word "outrageous" under our $3.95 price when every Tom, Dick and Harry raised their price to match it. I guess we can put it back now that we are at $4.95. DRUMMER has never been a magazine that you can absorb while standing at the newsstand, It is a meat-and-potatoes (more of the former than the latter) periodical which has introduced more new artists, writers and photographers than any other gay mag. As I thumb through one $10.95 offering (at the newsstand) it is like revisiting DRUM-MER issues of ten years past, except our discoveries and pioneering now is reborn in four colors on onehundred pound stock.

TEN YEARS: The cover of our premiere issue.

Subscriptions will go up too, along with Leather Fraternity rates, so I would take advantge of this interval if you are not already a subscriber. We no longer can offer first-class postage subscriptions because of the outrageous postal rates—other than overseas and Canada, since there is no other way to get anything to those places in the same quarter of the year.

Our Tenth Anniversary Mr. Drummer contest was a smashing success and we want to thank all those who took part. The contestants were excellent and the show was great, as will be the resulting video. We are delighted with our new Mr. Drummer. It was nice being with friends during this milestone in the saga of DRUMMER.

Now that the celebration is over, we are moving to our new building at 640 Natoma to add chaos to confusion. This will be accomplished by the end of this month and we can start on producing new products and videos.

Things are changing, and for the best. Thanks for being around to enjoy them with us.

LEATHER'S BIG NIC

DRUMMER

Leather's Big Night for 1985 was special on every count. First and foremost, it was a birthday party for Drummer Magazine itself, celebrating ten years of putting into print the best and brightest the leather community has to offer. But the men on stage were hardly twodimensional, headed by big Steven Reiswig, who would be named the new Mr. Drummer before the night was out-one of the most impressive physical specimens ever to hold the title, and a man of outstanding intelligence and personality to boot.

The production itself was a special challenge. No longer a disco party punctuated by onstage fantasy acts and presentations, this year's Mr. Drummer Finals was a sitdown affair, held at the prestigious Japan Center Theatre (aka the Kabuki Nightclub), one of San Francisco's finest theatrical venues. That meant a night of nonstop entertainment, with nonstop leather action on stage to keep the crowd riveted—and producer Anthony Bruno, with a script by Robert Payne, rose to the occasion. As entertainment, nationwide contest and leather spectacular, the 1985 Mr. Drummer Finals was an unabashed success by anybody's standards.

It started with erotic film star Chris Burns doing a martial arts callto-arms on stage, then moved to the introduction of the regional winners and their opening statements. Mr. Southern California Drummer, German-born Rydar Hansen ("I come from the land which invented leather"), drew the crowd's attention with some serious statements on the nature of SM, but it was Invitational Contestant Steve Reiswig (filling in for Mr. New England Drummer) who took an early lead for the audience's affections with his easy manner and undeniable presence.

Throughout the evening there was an array of special entertainment and presentations, including the nearly nude erotic moves of dancers John Kass, Joe Toby and Scott O'Hara; an original dance performed by Jim Snidac, festooned in a fetishistic array of feathers; Mario Simon performing the showstopper "Drummerman"; and a moving tribute in words and images to frequent Drummer coverman and model, the late Val Martin, a man who long epitomized the spirit of Drummer and to whom the a DRUMMER evening was dedicated.

But the meat of the evening were the men themselves, and the fantasies they presented on stage. Most elaborate belonged to Mitch Brown (Mr. Northern California Drummer, and Second Runner-Up), featuring a dozen choreographed dancers, which began in a straight new wave bar and ended (after a raid by Brown in police uniform) with one of the dancers hoisted into a sling at the mercy of his police assailant. Equally ambitious was Rydar Hansen's dizzying aerial act, which began with the Southern California regional titleholder making an entrance in white tie and tophat (accompanied by his crawling slave on a leash), and ended with Hanson performing leather-style acrobatics high atop a scaffolding ladder.

Mike Jones (Mr. Rocky Mountain Drummer, who was first Runner-Up) brought in another law enforcement fantasy, with Jones and a sailor staging spontaneous alleyway sex, only to be interrupted by a night patrolman—who decided to get in on the act himself. Kevin "Thumper" Petrow (Pacific Northwest) did a number with revving motorcycle and revved-up slave; Joe Brown (Southeast) proved himself a Master at wielding his belt; Joe Varvaro (Southwest), himself as hairless as a baby's ass, took buzzing shears to his slave's hairy rump; and Mark Ray (Midwest) moved the fantasies into the video age when the heated leathermen on his television screen came to life and carried him off into SM video heaven.

Probably the most original was also the evening's funniest fantasy act, with Carl Fetterman (Mr. East Coast Drummer) playing a preppy slave who gets set straight by his Master—all it takes is stripping him naked (the crowd went wild when the LaCoste alligator went out in shreds) and using a bucket of black paint to paint him into a leather harness and boots!

But the best, as it turned out, was saved for last, with Steven Reiswig staging a performance that touched on the deepest fantasies of every man in the audience—and every man across America. It began with a figure of Death—skull-masked and cloaked in a robe with the letters AIDS—in combat with a nearly mythical leatherman, Reiswig himself; Death is slain; Reiswig pulls away the mask and black robes to uncover the unconscious form of another man in leather (Reiswig's lover and last year's Mr. Drummer Northwest, Ray Woods)—and Reiswig carries his companion off in his ample arms.

Drummer Magazine has always celebrated the individual man, It is from this celebration of individuality and manhood that our fraternity of leather has arisen. We are a brotherhood which knows not only how to celebrate ourselves, but we know also how to show our strength, caring and support for each other in the face of those adversaries who would have us fall. As Mr. Drummer, I will contribute to this strength, and return the caring and support the leather community has shown me. I shall carry the banner proudly, representing you, standing beside you as we continue to fight for our rights, our dignity and our lives. This was my statement to you the night of the Mr. Drummer contest, it basically represents my philosophy as a homosexual and as a leatherman. We cannot be too committed to our unity as a very special brotherhood, and I intend to use this title, as your representative, to strengthen the bonds of brotherhood within our community. I shall begin by donating my prize money to the Northwest AIDS Foundation, to be distributed to local support organizations according to need. This donation will carry a special acknowledgement to Drummer Magazine, which in so doing will begin to alert the non-leather community to our presence and concern. I urge all of us to make our presence known in ways such as this. Respect will be forthcoming. They shall know us in the leather brotherhood as not only formidably male and sexual, but proud and caring as well. Together we can give our community a year to remember!

The ACLU keeps watch for infringements of any and all civil rights. People for the American Ways keeps a close eye on rumblings from the Christian Right, including textbook banning and pressure to appoint only "good Christians" to key government posts. But who's looking out specifically to monitor the erosion of your right to be sexual? The Committee to Preserve Our Sexual and Civil Liberties, that's who

The Committee was first formed in San Francisco in October, 1984, with the express purpose of opposing the closure of the city's gay bathhouses by then Public Health Director. Mervyn Silverman, who believed that bathhouses were directly linked to the rising incidence of AIDS in the gay population, that they constituted a public health menace and should be closed no matter what the cost to civil rights.

from the Committee's own statement of its History and Actions: "Many in the community felt that the bathhouses were being used as a scapegoat, and that efforts instead should be directed toward education, both inside and outside the bathhouse, about safe sex and toward research for a cure and preventative. Further, many saw the bathhouse closure as the first step toward much stronger actions against gays, lesbians, and bisexuals, actions that would take away many of the civil liberties that had been won over the long years of struggle. Indeed, some of the actions that the members of the Committee had feared had already come to pass, like proposals of quarantine and reimposition of sodomy laws. Because of the great danger of the AIDS crisis to our civil liberties as well as our health, the Committee has expanded its focus from the bathhouse question to all concerns about sexual and civil liberties."

STRONG ARM OF THE LAW - Vould you believe this man is a bona lide copt Must be, or he wouldn't be posing for the new Cop Cakes 1986 Calendar (subtitled "Beefcake with a Badge"). We figure he's probably just as intimidating (and desirable) in regulation blues and Sam Browne belt. Makes you feel kind of warm and secure doesn't it—as long as you stay on the right's ite of the law (The Cop Cakes 1986 Calendar, featuring 12 different policemen in full color and mostly out of uniform—sometimes very out of uniform—is available for $7.95 plus $1.75 postage from Dan Magill, 1065 Folsom St., San Francisco, CA 94103.)

The Committee defines its expanded concerns to include 'such issues as attacks on pornography, raids on adult theaters, and the increasing persecution resulting from people's fear about AIDS. We are determined to ensure that AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases are not used as an excuse to reverse the trend toward acceptance of sexualty. Our longterm goal is for society to recognize sexuality both as a civil liberty and as a positive force in our society. Make sex safe, don't repress sexuality."

The Committee has thus far remained a local group, with its lobbying, publicity and media activities and meetings concentrated in the San Francisco Bay Area. But from that base, it has also reached out on a national front, condemning the Houston City Council for giving consideration to testimony urging the quarantine. of gay men, urging the FDA to expedite approval of all drugs being used worldwide in the treatment of AIDS, and protesting recent factics of antiporn forces in Los Angeles.

Among the Committee's most successful and visible events was a May fundraiser at Chaps, a leather bar in San Francisco. Among many others on stage: erotic film and stage star Richard Locke, dancer John Kass, and singer Mario Simon bringing the crowd to cheers with his performance of "Drummer Man."

The Committee seeks contributions, volunteers, and members from the Bay Areamand behind its formulation is an idea whose time may have come all over the country, as anti-erotic forces are taking advantage of confusion and suffering in the gay community to try to impose their ideas on all of us.

NEW YORK BOUND

New York area readers who tied themselves into knots reading Mark I. Chester's report on the San Francisco Bondage Club in Drummer 83 may want to get in touch with the New York Bondage Club.

The Club describes itself as "an informal organization which presently meets once a month in New York City," with regular membership open to all men in the Tri-State area (New York, New Jersey, Connecticut). Affiliate memberships are open to men who travel to NYC occasionally, "but would be willing to entertain (or be entertained by) other club members or affiliates who might travel to their home towns."

The NYBC also maintains a bondage correspondence list, which allows adult subscribers, for a small one-time fee, to be added to a list of names and addresses of men who wish to share their bondage fantasies by mail, and to receive a copy of the list

In addition to meetings and tying up the US mail with bondage fantasies, the NYBC is also putting together a book of bondage experiences, "similar to such books as Cum, Sex, Meat, etc.—the only difference is that the focus will be on sexual experiences involving men bound and gagged, written by men who like to do it and men who like to have it done to them."

To help compile the book, the NYBC urges Drummer readers and anyone else to send a letter (or letters), all to be published anonymously and without pay, "of the kind you would write to a friend with similar interests. Tell us such things as

DADDIES AND BOYS

Summer in San Francisco means it's time for Daddies and their boys to lay it on the line—up front, on stage, in hot competition. The third annual Mr. Leather Daddy Contest is scheduled for August 9 at Chaps. (You may remember former winner Christian Heran from his subsequent showit-all photo spread in Advocate MEN.) The boys tag along close behind, with the third annual Leather Daddy's Boy contest to be held at the SF Eagle on Sept. 8 (former winners include Dean Gibson and Jake Banks)

For information on entering either contest, inquire at the bar in question. Both events will be fund raisers for the SF AIDS Fund

WASATCH LEATHERMEN

The hottest event for August: Faicon Fright '85, a four-day mountain run sponsored by the relatively new Wasatch Leathermen Motorcycle Club of Utah Faicon Flight (August 15-18) kicks off at Backstreet (308 South 500 West) in Salt Lake City before moving on to a secluded campsite in the Uanta Mountains, "where fearless Ute warriors once gathered," Total fee: $95

The Wasatch Leathermen MC was incorporated in August, 1984, with a dedication "to the sport of safe motorcycling and to the camaraderie of leathermen alike." The Club puts out a professionaly done, regular newsletter, with notes on motorcycle safety, news on internal and other MC events, and a comic strip about a gay biker named "Hawk," Now fully organized, Wasatch Leathermen are "reaching out to brother leather and motorcycle clubs In our neighboring states, in the West, and in Canada," inviting members to make confact when visiting the Salt Lake City area. Wasatch Leathermen are easily spotted by their regulation uniforms of Leviblack 501s, gray chamois shirt, custommade black leather vests and teather boots.

REMEMBERING VAL

Last week I bought my copy of Drummer 83, and when I got home and picked up the mag It opened by chance to page 19.

I could not believe my eyes, and did not want to believe what I was seeing—in bold type the name Val Martin with the date printed below. I was devastated by what I was reading, and a cold chill flooded my body. I only knew Val through Drummer and was always delighted to see his pictures and read about him. He was truly a man's man, and will always be

In the same issue, I was glad you printed the address of the pecs and tits group, Edenite, sent in by Bob M, of Dailas—they're a real turn-on for me, Last August I ready got my tits worked over while spending a Sunday afternoon at the Mineshaft. It was a great feeling I kept on feeling for several days after Mark I. Chester's report and photos of the San Francisco Bondage Club were excellent. And the article in your previous issue (Drummer 82) on the Leather Fratern ty was great. I really got off with the men pictured at the bottom of page 53. What a beautul sight—men's legs and their hard cocks!

Thanks for another fine issue of Drummer

DADDYPECS

Recently a friend of mine gave me a copy of your magazine (Drummer 81). He knew I was into pecs, and after reading it I have to write to tell you how much I enjoyed reading "Pecs...and What to Do With Them" by T.R. Witomski

I am glad to see that I am not the only one who feets this way about pecs. A guy could have a 12" cock or bigger, but if he has small dots for niples he doesn't interest me. When I see a guy, I look at his chest first and then at his cock. I like watching truckers going down the highway on a hot summer day—they sit high up in their rigs, and you can see their nipples above the door through the window. Trucker tits turn me on!

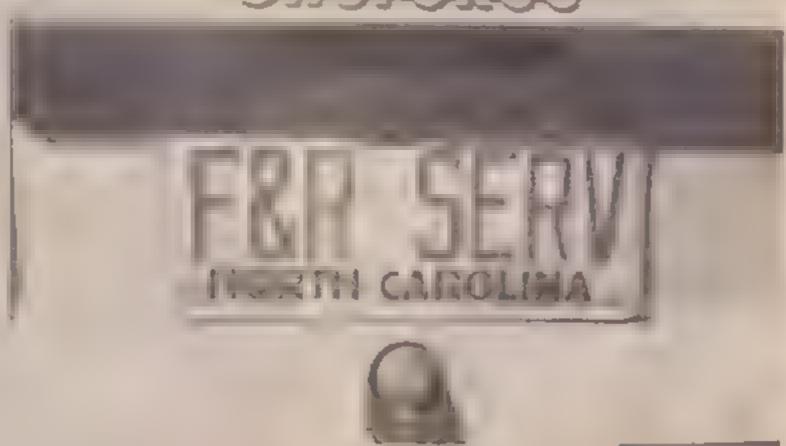

Another feature I like in your magazine is "Drummer Daddies," I'm into older men. Right now I'm overweight, but I would love to have a Daddy to work out with, who would get me into shape, plus titplay and sex. I'd like to get ahold of his sweaty hairy ass, balls and cock

SOFT SPOT

Just got my issue #83 of Drummer, and while I find the men hot and most of the articles a furn-on, I am worried that Drummer is "softening."

Quite frankly, the story "Beauty's Release," by A.N. Roquelaure, I found to ment I started years ago to buy Drummer because it celebrated masculinity. Don't let me down now, guys.

Please keep up the great work, and leave the "vanilla" stuff to your inferior competitors.

tEditor's note: Erotic fiction is always a matter of taste. Most of the word-of-mouth response we've gotten about our except from Beauty's Release has ranged from positive to "I came before I could finish it"—and notice how often author A.N. Roquelaure's name crops up in this issue's feature on erotic writers and what they read to get off. But we're glad to hear you're satisfied in other departments, and we'll do whatever it takes to keep Drummer—and you—as "hard" as they come)

Sir, Brutus, sir, I apologize, sir, for not writing for so long, sir, but after I was put in the hospital for the third time by my last. Master, I have been kept under lock(s) and key by my new owner, sir. Sir perhaps you rember me by my former name, sir, Spot, sir.

Permission was granted for this letter, sir, because of your article on the S.F.B.C. in Drummer 83. My master has a bone cruncher of a game he plays on me, sir My Master takes 200 ft. of rope and raps it once around my chest, just under my shaved nipples! After making a slip knot on it he wraps the rest around and around, keeping it tight and not letting any skin show between loops. The end is tied to the last loop, critched tight to the first loop and tied off.

This way my chest cannot expand for a good deep breath. At first this was done before my daily exercises, which must be performed before my Master. Recently, a

A LOST DAD

I m writing this letter, hoping it will be printed in Drummer. I lost my Dad on June 6, 1984. My Dad was very artive in the Leather Community in Los Angeles and involved in the Gay Movement. He helped organize HELP, Inc., and led

My Dad was ill when we met. I became his son anyway. When he died, there were no close friends for him. I know how he felt. I was diagnosed two months after Dad died of having AIDS.

A year later no one remembers. But I do. Nobody wrote anything when he died. So if you could mention it now...

My Dad's name was Chifford G. Letneri, 1937-1984. Thank you.

My man is big—big thick hands, strong chest and arms the most beautiful thick feet, incredibte hairy legs with thick hard calves, right down to his big uncut manmeat and huge

for whatever reason, he il slip away; maybe saying "I'm gonna go work on the books." Then I'll hear my name being called from upstairs. I always go—and find him standing there rubbing his hard on through his briefs or jock, wearing black ribbed socks over those thick calves, and maybe boots

I know I am to strip, without words, down to my socks and boots. He ties my hands tight behind my back—he says that I can concentrate better on what I'm doing that way. Then he puts me on my knees and ties my hands to my feet, hog-tying me, and stands before me, making me eat his cock through the cotton cloth. This man was made for a jockstrap.

the always makes me work for the prize. Makes me want it. Says I can have it if I can get it out. So I use teeth, tongue and lips to release his big cock—then he'll tease me with it and won't let me have it till I lick the insides of his legs, thick and harry, and all the hair around his cock till it's wet and my face slides through it, right to the base of his balls, while he rubs his cock all over my face. Damn, he makes me hungry for it!

When it finally gets to my mouth, it's my throat that he wants, and it's throat he gets. He fucks my throat, hard and deep, the way a man fucks an ass, until it becomes a hot loose tube packed with his sliding meat, open for the deepest thrust. He'll hold my mouth deep on his cock and tell me to lick at his cockring to press my tongue against the underside of his cock, leeling thick hair at the base of his cock, and the taste is lost, shooting into my neck, far beyond my mouth But I can feel it when he comes, feel his big shaft jerking and throbbing inside all the way from my lips to the base of my neck

Spent for the moment, but the length of it with the head burried deep in my neck

If he decides then that he wants to come that way, in my throat instead of my ass. I still don't receive the pleasure of tasting his sweet, sometimes bitter come. His big strong hands hold my head pinned in place, with his meat shoved all the way down my throat and my lips pressed against the having no intention of giving me release—he knows I can't get enough—he slides his meat out of my throat and stuffs one of his socks into my mouth (sometimes letting me pull it off with my teeth), and ties a skintight leather hood over my head. Then he leaves me like that, gagged, hooded and hog-tied—sometimes for hours

When the time has passed, and the hood comes off, he is step around from behind me, flashing a big smile, and wave his big hard-on in my face. After the long wait, I m prenty hungry for it again. He watches me lick my lips, and smacks my face with it.

What's a boy-man to do? The man has turned me into an expert cocksucker. You know how it is when you love what (and who) you're doing

TOUGH CUSTOMER

I met Dad through Drummer Magazine. | first became aware of Dad as a result of his photo in the Tough Customers section, and he seemed to be looking and talking directly to me. I can still temember how not and turned on his picture got me and how eager I was to meet with him, When we finally did meet. I was nervous and excited with anticipation. I wanted very much to please him, to serve him the way he needed and wanted to be served. That first meeting seemed to be an answer to all my fantasies, and made me even more determined to try to become the best son possible

Dad and I have been together six months now, and in that short time I have tearned a great deal about what my Dad's needs are and how to satisfy them Lately Dad has trained me to be his toilet slave. This was something that neither of us had really tried before, but something that now excites us both I enjoy taking my meals direct from Dad, eating his hot funky Daddy ass and drinking his warm piss. After all, why should a man like my Dad need to be bothered with using a cold toilet seat when he has his boy's warm and eager mouth?

Dad likes to keep my ass nice and loose so that I can please him when he works it over. I have come to look forward to feeling Dad's hand slide up into my ass, to feel his hand open and close while up in there, and best of all to feel his cock go up there and have him jerk himself off up in my ass. Dad said that if I am good then maybe on one of our trips to the Mineshaft we can put on a demonstration. I hope it is soon, because I am eager to show everyone what a great Dad I have. Thank you, Drummer, for helping me find my Dad!

GOING HOME

My Dad isn't special to anyone but me. His looks are a little bit better than ordinary, six solid feet tall, with enough body hair for a son to get lost in and fortunately to inherit.

I remember when I was on a visit home during my first year in college walking in on Mom and Dad one morning and as they lay there, his cock was just peeking out of the sheet. I remember staring at it and as I did, it grew to twice its size My Dad had just a warm smile on his face, as if nothing was happening. Later tha morning, when Mom was out shopping, my Dad called me to his bedroom and stood me before him.

I saw you staring at my cock, son, and I'm disappointed that a man's cock is so interesting to you Maybe a little strapping will help you change your interests.'

With that, Dad removed his shirt, and pulled the belt out of his trousers. He told me to drop my pants and lay on the bed, ass up. I jumped to his command, knowing that if I failed, the licking I was going to get would be twice as bad The first blow brought tears to my eyes, and by the lifth crack across my ass I was begging him to stop. By this time he was calling me a cocksucker son of a bitch that was going to earn that a man's cock was not something to peek at, but to take and worship. He grabbed me by the hair and spun me around on the bed and mounted my chest. His cock was out and stood a full nine inches away from his furcovered body.

"Here, take this," he said in a low gutteral voice, almost a hiss, that I had never heard from him before. Forcing my head to the tip of his cock, he was bad that he was good enough to let it pass without a spanking, even though I really deserved it. That sometimes a good strapping was in order, and he just let me get away without one. I told him that I

That was the last time my Dad ever punished me, and for some time after, he never spoke to me about it, and acted if nothing had happened. Every time I saw that belt, I threw an instant hard-on, and sometimes even misbehaved, hoping that he would use it on me once more.

shoved it down my virgin throat, making me gag on the tuil length of his manhood, all the while slapping my face with his open hand. Before I could begin to accept his cock to the back of my mouth, he began to moan and thrust, and with a shudder he began pumping gobs of cum down my aching throat

He slowly backed off of my chest, just turned and walked out of the room. I turned over on the bed, alraid that he would see the hard-on that leaped in his image from my young body. The salty taste in my mouth stayed there for several hours, and I savored its power.

That was the last time my Dad ever punished me, and for some time after, he never spoke to me about it, and acted if nothing had happened. Every time I saw that belt, I threw an instant hardon, and sometimes even misbehaved, hoping that he would use it on me once more

A number of years passed and Mom and Dad eventually divorced One summer, I went to visit Dad in his new apartment, and for the first time since he last punished me, I decided to tell him what it meant to me

We were sitting on his sofa after dinner, and he was reading his paper. I told him that he was a wonderful dad, and that there were times when I remembered that last beating with a lot of love because I knew that it was for my own good. Then I told him that the biggest lesson I learned that day was that a man's cock was to be worshiped and that I had gotten prefty good at it.

That was the first time that he even acted like he heard what I was saying. He stood up slowly, rolled the paper up, and moved toward me. There was no expression on his face; he spoke quietly and deliberately.

"You know, son, I did the best I could raising you, and maybe I did let you get away with too much." He raised the rolled newspaper over his head and brought it crashing across my face, "It's time we did a little catching up. Take off your fucking clothes, you little faggot fucker, let's find out just how much you've learned!"

durckly that a few of the buttons came off my shirt. He went over to his closet and opened the door. There hanging on the hook was the same belt that he had used on me years ago, he came over to me with the belt in his hand and grabbed me by neck and pushed me over the back of the chair

"Count at motherfucker, count!" At twenty-five I could hardly make the words come out anymore, and suddenly he stopped. Without a sound, I felt a moist wetness on my ass crack, and suddenly his massive hands were on my cheeks, spreading them apart, and his tongue was sliding up my convulsing asshole gently opening it for more. The licking stopped and he stood

"You're gonna get the prize you've wanted now, son," and his huge cockhead was planted on the opening to my ass. Slowly at first, he pushed, letting the mushroom of his shaft clear the opening, then with a groan that sounded more like an animal than a man, he had it in and his balls slapped against my ass. His massive, hairy arms went around my chest and he began moving his hips, faster with each thrust

My ass was alive, grabbing his shaft, and loving it from head to balls. He removed one of his arms and grabbed my hair with his free hand and pulled my head back

I felt my bowels expand and I was just about to cum when he let loose with a deep grow and forced his cock to the full length of my ass and he dift there. I knew he was shooting and knowing it was my Dad's cock filling me with cum was too much for me to take I shot all over his chair, and knew I would get a beating for it. At least I was hoping I would

He pulled out of me and told me to go to the pisser and clean up and come back to him. When I returned he was dressed and sitting reading the paper again. Without looking at me he told me to sit on the floor by the couch, against his egs. Quietly I sat, happy to be at his feet.

"This is your home now boy we'll send for your things in the morning."

I wrapped my arms around his legs, and was glad to be home again

BIKER DADDY

I picked up my roommate's copy of Drummer Daddies 3 and I was amazed to discover that so many sons have had the same experiences I have had. I asways thought that my experience was unusual and something to keep quiet about, but now I'm glad to be able to share it

It started when I was a teen ager. My Foster Dad (my natural parents abandoned me at birth) and I were in the living room. He was reading a motorcycle mag and I was building a house of cards on the floor. Suddenly he got up grabbed me around the warst and between the legs squeezed hard and threw me upon the couch and started teeling me up. Mom was gone shopping on that Saturday, so he carried me into the garage, pulled off my clothes and laid. me on my back across his Harley and swallowed my aboveaverage sized cock all the way to the balls. As soon as I came. in his throat, he also came without even touching

We had many times in the garage or the woodshed out back when Mom wasn't around. He taught me how to worship his cock and balls and when I didn't do it to his total satisfaction he would spank me (which I actually enjoyed). So I learned discipline from my Daddy. He was never brutal, but he was strict, he never showed much attectron but he treated me with a different attitude than that which he had for his natural children. For instance, I was taken with him on motorcycle runs more often than anyone else (Mom often complained about this), and if I had been a good boy he would allow the other club members to use me as they wished while he watched. My greatest joy came from the knowledge that this pleased him. He taught me how to please men and that is what I love to do most.

Our wonderful relationship continued for years, until one day in July Just after my birthday, he set me free with the admonition to continue my education, and said that even though there would be other men for me, he would always be my Daddy and I his son. We are still in close contact, a though we haven't seen each other for two years. There have been other men, but none tike my Daddy

FOUR ON ICE

Ву PHIL ANDROS

L An Odd Little Expedition

"Damn, that's beautiful!" Bill said, and threw the thermoplast door wide open. A blast of polar air puffed into the room, shivering and rattling the papers on my table, and bringing with it a cloud of ice crystals. "C'mon, Phil," he said, "have a look at our five suns this morning."

I got up from the table and went to the door. The pailed white arctic sun held itself today about five degrees above the horizon. It was surrounded by a circle of white radiance, and the central sun reflected itself in four more suns, each placed to quarter the circle, so that in a way it looked like a shining atomic nucleus in the sky... the parhelic ring, caused by the sun shining on the ice crystals held in the air.

Bill put his arm around my shoulders in a kind of fatherly gesture, which I didn't mind at all—but he was only twenty-nine, and I was twenty-four that year, about eight years ago, a bit too old to be his son. I shivered a little, hardly from the cold, but from the weight of his arm.

"Very beautiful, as always," I said.

"The sun's gone down two more degrees today," Bill said, swinging the sextant casually from the fingers of his other hand "We won't see this much longer. Then it'll be night.

"...and a long one at that," I said

"Well, we'll be long gone before the end of it," Bill said. "I hope."

i sat down at the table again and Bill closed the door. "How long will Jim and Bob be out?" I said.

Bill shrugged. "About six more hours," he said. "They're taking a scintillometer count,"

It was an odd little expedition—four of us stranded out there south of Heilprin in Greenland for three months—but then the U.S. Navy is noted for sending out odd little expeditions. They'd yanked me away as a reservist because I'd fearned to be pretty good computer-wise, and with statistics—of which there was a lot. It was all a very hush-hush project, caused by some disturbing factors about the moon-astronauts which hadn't been released to the public. But the space agency knew, and had hinted it to us: every single astronaut who had passed through the Van Allen radiation belt that surrounded the earth had come back home completely sterile. No more kits for any of them....

So here we were, trying to chart with some mathematical precision the "hole" in the Van Allen belt, on the off-chance that if ever there were any future moon landings made, they might be able to navigate through the hole and so keep all their little tadpoles alive and guivering

The shrinks back in the Limited States had given us all kinds of tests to establish our sex lives and our compatibility—wanting, like the official puritans they were, to make sure there was no hanky-panky of any kind going on among four brave swabbies. But anyone who could count to ten was capable of knowing what kinds of answers to give psychiatrists, what kinds of things to "see" in the Rorschach inkblot tests. And so none of them had found out what it wasn't their business to know anyway—that I was homosexual, a quondam hustler, and partly masochist to boot. Or to boots.

Bill was a kind of father-image in a way. He was about six feet tall (we all were, more or less) and had a buildog face—a large strong jaw, black thick eyebrows, and curly black hair. I sensed a kind of protectiveness in him which the others lacked completely. Jim was the oldest of the lot, and outranked us all; he was a Navy captin at thirty-eight, bossy as hell—and I strongly suspected from his attitudes and his brusque speech that he had more than a little sadist in him. He had dark-red coppercolored hair, and the scanty beginnings of a beard, whereas all the rest of us had so far made the attempt to remain cleanshaven. Then there was Lieutenant Bob, who was only about five-ten tall, blond as cornsilk and with a kind of willowy-well, better make that wiry-musculature, since willowy suggests something the Navy would never stand for—and he was the mathematician of the group. He had a good face with high 30 DRUMMER cheekbones and hollowed planes in his cheeks, and he was the only one who could speak a little Eskimo, Greenlandish variety. As for myself—well, as I've said, I was still a reservist and subject to call.

Bill sat down at the second table where he was working to replace a chip in the micro-computer we'd brought along, but he looked nervous. I sat down at my table, bending my head so that I could watch him out of the corner of my eye. He leaned back in the steel chair, spread his legs wide, and put one big hand down over his crotch

The shrinks back home had talked a little diffidently about out sex lives and what would be going on up there in our isolation for three months. "Now...er...you must understand," one said to me, somewhat embarrassed, "that you will be living under certain emotional pressures. After a good deal of discussion, the Navy had decided to suspend its rather severe regulation against self-abuse..."

"You mean Uncle Sugar is giving us permission to jack off?" |

said with some amusement

The psychiatrist turned faintly pink. That's what I love about shrinks—you can really embarrass them if you know how.

"Well...er...yes," he said, "in the interests of easy living-together, it would be better to revieve your accumulated tensions that way than...er...to engage in any kind of homosexual activity. That I m afraid, the Navy can't permit at a !

"Okay," I said, and grinned. "I've been beatin' my meat most of my life. I reckon I can stand three more months of it without much trouble."

He d excused me with that, I suppose he'd talked to all the others the same way. And in the two weeks we'd arready been in Greenland, we'd busied ourselves with playing out little games. Each of us had jacked off either two or three times, always under the pretense of retiring to take a shit behind the screen around our portable chemical toilet in the thermoplast tent. The huffings and puffings that came from behind the screen were hardly those that could be associated with relieving ourselves of the daily waste.

"Phil..." Bill said tentatively.

I looked up. He was quite openly fingering himself now, and the shape of his hardon showed even through the bulky fleecelined trousers. He had grabbed it top and bottom, and its size was not too displeasing.

"Have to go take another crap?" I asked, grinning, "I guess if we're gonna go on playin' our games, that's the usual expression."

He laughed, and arched his hips a little forward at me. "We might as well drop the play-acting," he said. "By the time we get out of here, we'll all have dropped it.

That startled me. "Do you know something I don't?" I asked. "Perhaps." His big square hand was fumbling at the flybuttons of his crotch

"I don't understand."

"Maybe they thought you were too young to know," Bill said, amused. "The fact of the matter is—I'd like to have a blowjob." "So would I," I said, "but we're not in Copenhagen or San Francisco or Paris."

His fly was completely open now, and his hand had disappeared inside, slowly, slowly moving, caressing, squeezing...
My breathing was faster, and my armpits were wet.

"I guess they didn't tell you," he said, more to himself than to me. "I guess they figured we'd find out all by ourselves."

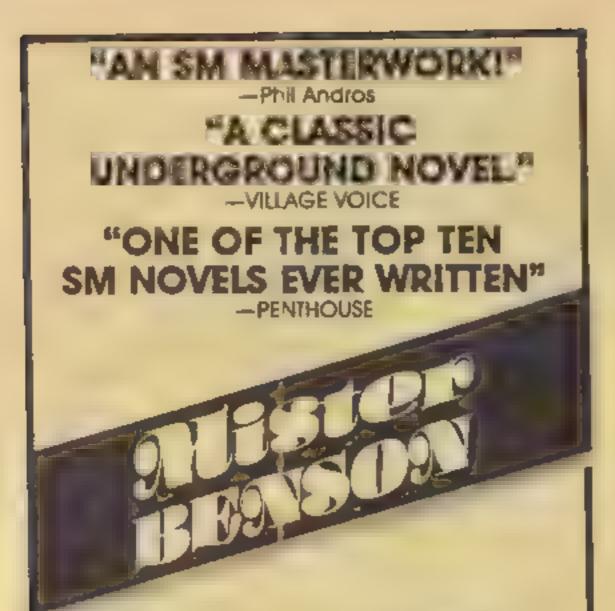

"What in the hell are you talkin' about?"

With that he dug in, pulled, unded some more underwear buttons, and dragged his cock forth into the light, the unending eternal arctic light of the longest day. I watched as fascinated as a hen by a snake. My mouth was dry. His cock was long and thickly ribbed and cleanly circumcised, and his big hand fitted around it lovingly, moving gently, slowly, back and forth.

"Well," he said, "they're one up on all of us. The shrinks, I mean. They picked out a group of four gay guys, if you wanta opened my mouth wide and took his cock all the way deep into my mouth, deep, deep, feeling it glide like smooth warm metal straight on and on, until the membrane ring of my throat felt the head of it go through, and his cockhead nuzzled against the backwall of my throat.

know. Well-balanced ones, of course." His hand went on dreamily up and down his cock, and I saw a little glint of light sparkle at the tip-end of it. "There's you—a part-masochist. And Jim's a sadist. And I'm bisexual, but lean towards the gay side. And there's Bob, who'll fuck anything that's got a hole in My jaw dropped. "For chrissake, who told you all that?"

"The shrink, the baid one. The same one who talked to you he was glad you thought you'd fooled 'em all. Matter of fact, Jim and I were together when he talked about the 'emotional slantings' of the four of us. So what I want to know, ole buddy, is—are you gonna give me a blowjob like a nice little cock-sucker, or am I gonna have to tie your hands and ram it down your throat. Or had we better leave the rough stuff to Jim, later on?"

I was spinning—mad as hell at first at the gahdamned shrink who'd fooled me while I thought I was fooling him, and then mad because the rest of them had known and I hadn't.

"You go plumb to hell," I grated. "There'll be a high wind in Jamaica before I have anything to do with any one of you bastards."

"Oh, you'll come around," Bill said easily, "or else it it really go hard for you. Jim's a dandy at all kinds of rough and dirty

He got up out of his chair and walked towards me—big smile on his face, his cock swinging from side to side. "C'mon, sonny boy," he said, "I'm your protector, didn't you know? I'm the one who's gonna keep Jim from carvin' you up into a meat pie. You oughta be nice to ole Uncle Bill, y'know."

His cock, risen somewhat, still kept swinging in an arc as he walked towards me. He had taken his hand away from it. It kept on growing with each step.

Cocks have always fascinated me. I love their independent life, their...sassiness. I love their smooth satin shields around the miniature complex of little girders inside, which fill with blood to make it hard, the spongy cells which inflate, the wonderful mechanism which keeps the urethral open yet traps the blood in the shaft, so that the hardon remains, but the gyzym can still shoot out...or the piss.

Bill's cock was long and straight, and not too big around. It did not taper, and the head was the same size as the shaft. I knew from past experience that such a cock would slide easily down my throat, past the red fire-ring and touch the back, so that I could twist my head from side to side and rub his cock-head against my throatwall.

I moistened my lips nervously, hypnotized by the nearness of his cock. The slit at the end of it was producing pearl after pearl by now, and the whole head of his cock gleamed red in the long light through the windows.

"Take hold of it, kid," he said huskily, "Go on-kiss it a little.

A nice, hot, wet kiss

Since there's no help, I thought...and raised my hand to the gleaming long tan shaft. I closed my fingers around it. Above me, Bill sighed at the contact with my hand, and pushed his hips gently forward. The head of his cock surged out the other side of my hand, glistening wetly, and thus holding it, I leaned forward and licked flatly with my tongue at the moisture. It was musky and sweet—and then I inhaled a deep breath of the male odors that swirled out of the opening of his pants, a sexual male odor, compounded of balls and sweat and the peculiar heady smell of a rutting animal.

Bill's hips added pressure to his cock and he forced it slowly into my mouth. Then he suddenly slapped me on the back.

"C'mon, ole buddy," he said, "now that there's no more secrets, lemme lie down on the bunk and finish me off right."

I got up numbly from the awkward position on my chair, my mouth feeling lost and empty without his cock in It. Oh, I needed oral gratification all right, as much if not more than he needed his nuts off!

He walked to his bunk and lay down on it, one heavy-booted foot still resting on the floor. A bit dazed, I climbed between his legs and supported myself on hands and knees. Below my mouth, so close that my eyes could hardly focus on it, the tiny eye of his cock winked and glittered at me. And then with a sigh, I opened my mouth wide and took his cock all the way deep into my mouth, deep, deep, feeling it glide like smooth warm metal straight on and on, until the membrane ring of my throat felt the head of it go through, and his cockhead nuzzled against the backwall of my throat.

He was not inactive, that one. As soon as his cock was inside my mouth, his hands came down to the back of my head, and a moan escaped him. He took my head between his large hands and held it still, and then he started to fuck my mouth. I was captured, held tight—and I loved every moment of it. Big Bill, my "protector," jamming his cock down my throat, making me irrevocably his. And yet, fitted with his cock, joined to a man I had already jacked off about in fantasy, I found that crazy head of mine flittering from one thing to another, wondering just what kind of dirty sex Jim liked, and how big he was, and how violent, and where Bob fitted into the picture, and...and...

But there was suddenly no more thinking, for with a gasp and with hips shuddering, Bill shot his gyzym straight into my throat, pressing my head down hard until his cockhair scratched my nose and eyelids, stream and spurt, gasp and choke, lick, tickle with the tongue, work the deep throat muscles, milk it dry, get it all...

A sudden blast of ice-crystalled air blew over me. Bill's cock still in my mouth, I looked towards the door. The tall bulky silhouette of Jim stood there, red beard glinting like molten copper in the afternoon light...

"So!" he boomed "Things begin, heh?"

II. Pleased to Meetcha...

I raised my head and looked at him. I'd be damned if I'd give him any satisfaction at the moment. So, instead of fumbling or blushing or reacting at thus being caught in fragrant delicious, I said coolly.

"Where's Bob? Out there freezing?"

I'd been an M long enough to know that such a reply was bound to infuriate a sadist, and it did. He stomped into the solid-floored tent, slammed the door hard enough to rattle the windows, and was at the bunk in three strides. I didn't duck fast enough, and his heavy glove caught me alongside the jaw. I saw a float of red stars drift lazily down from the zenith.

"Jesus," I said

"Just don't be so fuckin' smart, cocksucker," Jim snarled, I was almost tempted to laugh at the hoarfrost on his mustache, but I restrained myself. One cuff like that was enough for the moment

Bill made a sound in his throat that was hard to translate. I couldn't tell whether it was a sigh after having popped his load, or the beginning of a sentence.

Then the door opened again, and Bob came in. His eyes grew wide

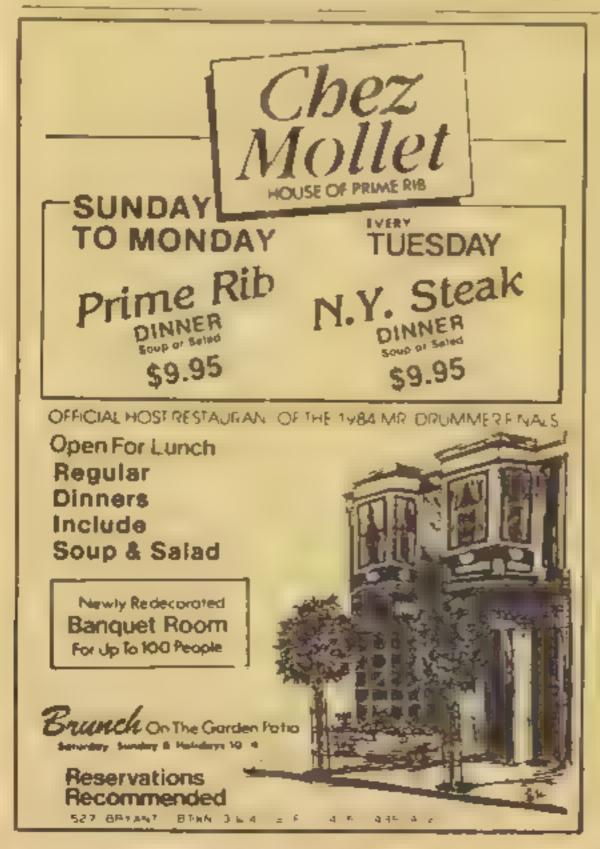

"Holy cow!" he said. "What the hell's goin' on here?"

irm turned his fury on him now, instead of me. "What the hell does it look like?" he grated. "Philbaby here's just finished givin' Bill a blowjob. Turns out we've got a fuckin' queer in our cozy group."

At that Bill sat up and started to tuck his cock back inside his fly. "Aw, c'mon, Jim," he said, laughing "Everything's out in the open now. I told Phil what the psychiatrist said, and how he had us all pretty well analyzed. You mean you haven't told Bob vet?"

Jim was annoyed. "No," he said

"Well, I will then," Bill said. He turned to Bob. "We're all gay, to one extent or another," he said. "Even you—and according to the best word, you may be the most experienced of the lot. Here's Phil, a not-so-pure, not-so-simple masochist, Jim a sadist, me a bisexual—and you...well, you have the reputation of fuckin' anything that moves, and likin' any kind of sex, dirty or clean.

On Bob's good-looking race and neck the scarlet started, mounting like a slow wave. You could see it cover his chin and lips, his cheeks, and finally his forehead. He made a strangled sound in his throat.

Jim grunted, "Didn't think it'd start so soon," he grumbled. "Why wait?" Bill said, "Today seemed as good a time as any. And then sardonically, "It's a lovely day outside, all white and beautiful, with five suns in the sky—just the day for a good fuck."

"In that case," said Jim, unfastening his heavy arctic jacket, "I'm gonna get me the piece of ass I've been waiting for since we got here. Damn, I was tired of beatin' my meat!"

He turned to me. "And you, Junior," he said, "get your pants off. I'm gonna fuck you until you see the aurora borealis."

"Oh, sir!" I said in mock horror.

Jim stopped and looked at me—a flash of black lightning

'Yessir," I said quickly, and started to unbuckle my boots and take them off, along with my trousers, Jim was naked first, his red hair glinting in the light, giving a kind of dusky rose luminance to his legs, with a burning bush of flame-red on his chest, running down to his groin. He turned and rummaged through the footlocker beside his bunk, and came up with four pieces of rope, each about six feet long.

"Move the computer, Bob," Jim said. "Put it on the floor and slide the table over here."

Bob did as he was told, amazement still fleeting across his face slapped the table with the flat of his palm. "C'mon, buster," he said. "Keep your feet flat on the floor and your cock under the table edge, and get down here on your belly."

And you better get undressed too," Jim said to him, "I got a little job or two for you to do."

There hadn't been a word from Bill. He just sat quietly on the edge of his bunk and watched.

I was naked by then, and im slapped the table with the flat of his palm, "C'mon, buster," he said "Keep your feet flat on the floor and your cock under the table edge, and get down here on your belly."

"Hey!" I said. "You don't have to tie me up and go to all that trouble just to fuck me."

Jim scowled, "Maybe I like it that way," he said.

I lay down on the table on my belly, my cock just under the table edge. Old Betsy was beginning to betray me—she was getting hard. Jim tossed a couple of the rope-lengths to Bob

"Here," he said. "Tie an ankle to each table leg." With that he grabbed my wrist, whipperl a double twist of rope around it, and tied it to the far table leg... and then the other wrist. I could feel Bob at work on my ankles. It was lucky the table was well-balanced enough to hold me without spriling me backwards on my ass

I turned sidewise to look at Bill. He had grabbed his left leg around the lower calf, and sat with it drawn up, that secret smile still attractively moving his mouth a little.

Then Jim stood back and looked at me. The tabletop was hard and somewhat rough. I could teel my hardon knocking against the underside of the table. Jim was hard, too—up and angled starward, but Bob was only in that delightful state of heavy-blood which had thickened his cock and made it hang heavily downward.

"Okay, lieutenant," Jim said to Bob, "you get down there on your ass under the table and blow this bastard. I want him to come before I fuck him."

"Hey, gahdamnit, no!" I shouted "I don't wanna come so soon!"

Who asked what you wanted?" Jim said. "Okay," he said to Bob, "get goin"."

Bob seemed pleased at the prospect. He slid between my legs under the table and I felt him reach for my cock, bending it down with his hand around the root of it. And a moment later came the all-enveloping shock of first contact, so ever-oid and Here was a guy with talent, I thought. Even in such an awkward position as he must be, head knocking against the underside of the table, bent back on his arms or kneeling, he managed to give me a blowjob I'd remember for a long time. There wasn't any leisurely sucking about it; it was hard and fast and rapid—but it was just what I needed at the moment. I felt a trembling begin in my loins, a trembling that quickly traveled to my ankles and made my toes dance against the floor—and then in the middle of it, just when I felt the soft overlapping tingling of the prelude to my orgasm, there came a mighty thwack! across my ass with something broad and heavy.

"Damn!" I hollered. I turned my head sidewise and looked. Jim had taken his wide black leather belt and doubled it, and just as I looked at him the second downward swing started. I

hollered again

"Nothin' like a few swats to open up your asshole, asshole," Jim said, laying the leather on as if the belt would soon be taken back to the States.

And nothing like a few swats, I might add, to bring you to a climax. As soon as the initial shock had passed, I felt my cock swelling and growing even harder.

"Hey, you under there!" Jim yelled at Bob. "Don't swallow that load when he comes. Just bring it up here and hold it in your mouth until I tell you what to do with it."

Bob certainly heard him, and must have wondered why. I did too, but I had a fairly good idea. And then the red stars really did burst in my head and pinwheels spun behind my eyelids and rockets sprang from my body, and I shot forth jet after jet of come into Bob's mouth. I felt the head of my cock drowned in a hot pool of my own come, felt his tightened lips draw it all out of me. I lay on the table trembling and sweating and breathing hard

"Okay, lieutenant!" Jim said—damn, he could put more scorn in pronouncing "lieutenant" than in swearing at you! "Get the hell up here and blow that load all around his asshole, and see if you can't get some inside. And some on my cock, too."

Still quivering, I watched Jim as he spoke. He turned his head to Bill. "You approve, commander?" he said. "Nothin' like a good load of gyzym to do a little lubricatin'."

Jim was handling his own cock. It seemed big and hard enough as it was, but he didn't act quite satisfied. I looked over at Bill, and damn if he didn't have his own cock out again, lazily jacking it off.

Then I felt a new sensation—my own gyzym let loose in the crack of my ass, slightly cooled but not much, and felt Bob's mouth working at my asshole, driving what he could inside with his tongue, and even—with a blast of air—biowing some into me

"Good boy," Jim said, "Now put the last of it on the head of my cock "

Bob did My ass burned from the flaming leather that Jim had given it, and I felt the gyzym cooling even more. My only hope was that he'd get that ramrom of his inside before it dried off too much. I didn't expect the bastard to be gentle about it either.

Then I felt Bob stop licking at my asshole, felt him stop poking his tongue inside, and I relaxed my sphincter with every ounce of willpower that I had. Jim's cock, I had seen from my bent-

THE DAYS OF BLOOD! THE NIGHTS OF TORMENT!

SLAVES OF THE EMPIRE

Illustrated by Cavelo

"Aaron Travis writes with a golden pen. Here is this rousing—and arousing—tale of gladiatorial and sexual slavery in old Rome, one can escape to the furious past where wealth and strength alone mattered, and handsome males were born to be abused... A story of hot sexual nights and days—tense, taut, and aborbing, leading to a climax as satisfying as your own will be when you lie beneath either of the two best gladiators of the time." -Phil Andros

First serialized in Drummer, Slaves of the Empire

has been completely revised and expanded by the author with a shocking new finale. Featuring twelve bold new illustrations by Cavelo, the master of fantasy and bondage art, this deluxe paperback edition is destined to become a Collector's Item. You'll want to order two copies, one for the bedside table and one for the vault!

over position, looked to be a punisher for sure—but I'd taken bigger in my happily misspent life

I felt him position himself between my legs, and then spread the cheeks of my ass with one hand on each, digging his thumbs in. The cool tip of his cock—cool from my own come, that is—placed itself against me, dead center on, and I waited...

The push when it came was worse than I had imagined it could be—partly, I suppose, because I'd already shot my load and didn't feel like getting fucked so soon after. But then, you can't always control a sadist, no matter how sly an M you are.

Jim let out a shout, almost Valkyrean, that bounced and rattled around the room, and then he started in. This was no gentle ladyfuck—this was one straight from the camps of lumberjacks and cowboys. He rammed me with the speed of a piston, never relaxing, never giving me time to breathe. His thrusts were so strong they kept inching the table towards the wall, and both of us along with it. Seeing this, Bob placed himself in front of the moving table, letting it push against his legs. And that, of course, gave me something else to think about. I moved my head to the left a little, and felt their tip of his hardon brush against my lips.

He didn't need any more encouragament than that. He reached down, lifted my chin an inch or two, and got his cock inside my mouth. But all he could do was let the table movements work his hips for him, and with the pounding and slapping against my ass, my mouth worked up and down a coupla inches on Bob's cock

"I'm com-m-ming!" Jim bellowed and dug his fingernalls deeply into my ribs, squirting me full of a really hot load of come. He lay heavy against my back, panting. And suddenly—without any preparation—he quickly withdrew. It made a considerable plop! as it came out.

"Now...can I screw him, too?"

It was Bob, gahdamn him, asking leave of the master. Right at that moment I hated them both. But that's part of being an M, isn't it?

Sure, kid—go ahead," I heard Jim say magnanimously, and felt like complaining it was my ass they were talking about so freely, and that I oughta have something to say about it myself.

But I really didn't mind. After the pile-driving that Jim had given me, Bob was almost as gentle as a butterfly—or so it seemed. Evidently he had got all heated up inside my mouth, because my roughly treated ass could sense the swelsing come almost as soon as he was inside—the swelling that every cock makes just before it shoots.

So it was nothing, really... I heard Bob sigh, and then in my sensitized and mistreated canal, I felt the gentle squirting—six or seven times—that seemed almost like balm for my wounded; ass. Then Bob pulled out. I lay exhausted on the table, conscious of the ropes cutting at ankles and wrists

"One more thing..." I heard Bob say.

"Yeah? What?" from Jim.

"Can I eat the 'Intle supper'?"

Jim guffawed, and I heard Bill laugh too.

"Sure, kid—if you want to." As for me, in those days I hardly knew what the "little supper" was...

And then I found out, I felt Bob's mouth at my asshoe, sucking and sucking, felt his tongue inside, heard him licking and swallowing greedily, hungrily, as he drew out of me and into himself the gyzyms of all three of us—my own as lubrication, the big load that Jim had left inside, and finally his own...

"Little supper," indeed! If we were going to be alone up here for three months, what would a "banquet" be? And how in the hell could things any more fantastic happen than had occured this affternoon?

Well, perhaps the tables might turn. And I didn't necessarily mean the one to which I had been tied

III, Fun and Games

I guess no one would really expect to find four of the world's horniest study up above the Arctic Circle. It was hardly the place you'd look for them. And once the ice was broken, so to speak—at least the ice of our relationship—that's what we seemed to become. Our double-walled thermoplast tent, the isolation, the cold—everything worked together to give us a sense of security and just plain downright coziness. The tent was the headquarters of a different kind of nuclear family with all of its advantages (and some disadvantages), but certainly there were no little brats and monsters screaming around the house

We seemed to be almost insatiable. Whenever two of us would leave the tent—orders made it imperative never to go outside alone, always in pairs—we could usually be sure that by the time we got back, we'd find the other two sucking or fucking, no matter how short a time we were out in the cold. And quite often the two outside could hear what was going on at the base, because another of the rules was that the walkie-talkies had to stay open all of the time in case of an emergency or accident. I'd rather not count how many times the outside trips were cut short so that we could get back and be part of the fun and games we heard going on.

About twenty miles away from us was an Eskimo camp. One night during the hunting season—which was just beginning for them—we were visited by a couple of Eskimo guys. They gave us a "quzit" as a friendly gesture, their round moon faces filled with smiles. They stayed for about two minutes but wouldn't come inside. Bob tried talking with them but didn't get very far. His Eskimo talk was sketchy at best.

I felt Bob's mouth at my asshole, sucking and sucking, felt his tongue inside, heard him licking and swallowing greedily, hungrily, as he drew out of me and into himself the gyzyms of all three of us.

"What the hell is that?" Irm growled after they had left, Bob raughed. He tossed back his blond hair which seemed to grow about an inch longer each day.

"I thought everone knew what a quzit is," he said. "It's good luck."

I picked it up, it was a longish piece of polished bone, slightly curved, and tied at one end with a red string. I looked at it curiously.

"From a wairus," Bob said, grinning. "It's the bone that leads through the entire length of his cock,"

"You're kiddin"," I said

"Lucky walrus," Jim said.

"Sure is," Bill said. "Always ready, like the Boy Scouts. Always prepared."

"It'll be practical as hell in our household," I said, swinging it like a samural sword, "A fine dildo. Now we can all say we been fucked by a walrus."

"We might hang it above the door," Bob said. "The way you hang up a horseshoe. For good luck."

"In fucking," Bill said

"You guys really are nuts," Jim said.

Meanwhile our work went on, somehow getting done in spite of all the time spent screwing. The sun had disappeared almost completely, and the arctic night was beginning. It was a strange kind of twilight in which the light from our electric lanterns turned the ice crystals into silver in the air, and streams of silver would float around us as we walked through them.

It might be difficult to believe, but it was only seven weeks after we got there that we did discover the hole in the Van Allen belt, and started to map its dimensions with the help of our magnetometer and the refined sodium-emerald laser the Navy had recently developed—another hush-hush item. We found and measured the size of it with several other instruments, magnetic beams that arrowed in on the two squared corners and traced the parabolic path that connected them into a great semi-circle. The task of photographing it with the Navy's new radiation camera was still ahead.

"I don't see what the hell use this is gonna be," Bill grumbled one day. "They can't set up a rocket launching facility up here

Can they?

"Not our problem," Bob said. "They wanted it located, that's all."

"Won't this all shorten our time up here?" I asked

"Whatsamatter?" [im said sarcastic "Gettin too much sex? Your ass tired?"

Not me I said it diget the son of a bitch some day. His worst insult had happened one day when after an hour's sucking him, my jaws were so tired I couldn't keep up the suction and pressure. He dibackhanded me a coupla times along the jawbone, and said, "You're the lous est goddamned cocksucker I ever had."

Well! An old sentence from Poe jumped into my mind: "The thousand injuries of Fortunato I had borne as best I could, but when he ventured upon insult I vowed revenge." Lousiest cocksucker, indeed!

Aside from that one secret grudge I had, everything seemed dandy. Our sex life was all one could ask. Nobody got jealous or possessive. We shared each other without any difficulties—except for that one feeling I had against Jim. I suppose there was never a bottom who at one time or another didn't hate the guts of his topman, and I had a real ingrown hair in my ass for Jim. But the fact remained that we were still four horny guys who'd been picked to live together.

Bill and Bob seemed to make out with each other the most, because Bill continued to be fascinated by all the tricks Bob had up his magic sleeve. And Jim continued to beat me so thoroughly and often that my whole body was covered with welts and bruises. I looked like a soaped-up rainbow when I took a shower. Whenever one place would turn black and blue and yellow as an indication it was beginning to heal, he immediately began to lay on the leather somewhere else, starting the cycle all over again and leaving the new place furiously red and hurting. I walked around like a cripple without crutches, every movement reminding my sore buns and body of the remarkable strength of his right arm. Good ole 80b, however, liked to soothe the fresh places by licking them gently with his flattened tongue. It helped the hurting, but every now and then my cock was so sore from his chewing that I'd have to ask him to lay off for a while, Bob got his biggest kick out of fucking my sore ass right after Jim had whipped it and finished ramming me.

"Makes it such a nice hot place to lay up against," he said "Hell." I said.

One day Bill—also concerned for my welfare—asked me. "Want me to tell Jim to lay off for a while? I can't understand how you can take so much and still go on working."

"I just offer it up," I said, sardonic. "No—thanks a lot, but don't worry. Skin's got a great ability to recover quickly. But sure as hell I'd like to surprise him some day and see how he reacts. The thing is—he's mighty strong I wish I'd brought a pair of handcuffs with me."

"Well, you've held up fine," Bill said. "And we really haven't needed any toys at all. But since you mentioned them, I just happen to have a pair of handcuffs in my footlocker. Don't know myself just why I dragged them along."

"You really got culfs?" I said.

"Sure"

"Gimme 'em!" I hollered

Bill got up from his bunk and made some noise in his locker. Out of the depths he finally pulled a shiny pair of bracelets and handed them to me.

"And here's the key," he said

Now I might have the chance to get back at Jim for everything, if I could only take him by surprise. I looked around the tent. The only thing that was absolutely stable and sturdy was the steel tent-post that held up the thermoplast roof at its highest point. Nothing else would be able to stand up against a monster chained. I opened one of the cuffs and put it around the post. It fit exactly, but the cuff had to be locked in the first notch. I opened it with the key

"Good luck," said Bill sarcastically. "Maybe some day Bob and I will get back and find our nice cozy shelter flat on the ground. Busted,"

"Don't tell him about the cuffs," I said.

"I won't," he said.

"No danger it'll collapse," I said. "The post goes about fifteen feet down into solid ice, and besides that it's frozen stiff down there,"

"And now," said Bill while I was hiding the cuffs in my own locker, "what is a handsome young Greek stud willing to do to show me how to repay a favor?"

"Anything, sire," I said "Anything you want,"

Bill sat down on the edge of his bunk and started to take off his boots.

"I haven't had my toes sucked for a long time," he said. I knew what that meant. The toes were a nice beginning. Then you went up his thighs until you came to his cock

"Well, if that's what you want, that's what you'll get, ole buddy," I said

He took off his pants and stood barefoot and bare-legged on the wooden floor, "Turn up the propane," he said. "It's cold in here."

I did, and he lay down on his bunk, arms behind his head, naked from the waist down, his torso still covered by his padded jacket. Long and lovely, his cock lay over against his left leg. It was already in that heavy half-hard state high-arched, with the second toe longer than the big toes, just as it was on classic statues. And strange enough, with all the difficulties we had keeping our bodies clean, the smell of his feet was very male and healthy—sexually exciting, faintly moist. I'd already had enough experience with feet—one of my fetishes—to know that he had those harmless bacteria which most athletes have, in no way dangerous, reminding me of moist grass or hay...great!

I shucked off my clothes and crawled to him on his bed, where I bent over his feet. They were long and beautiful.

I touched his toes playfully with my tongue, a soft contact, like a butterfly wing, and then I gave the top of each toe a light hummingbird kiss. Bill moaned a little above me, and his toes curled downward in my mouth between my lower lip and my teeth. I put on a bit more pressure, and began figure-eighting around his toes with my tongue-tip, letting the pattern become more and more complicated until I felt someone should be calling out the movements the way they do it in square dancing

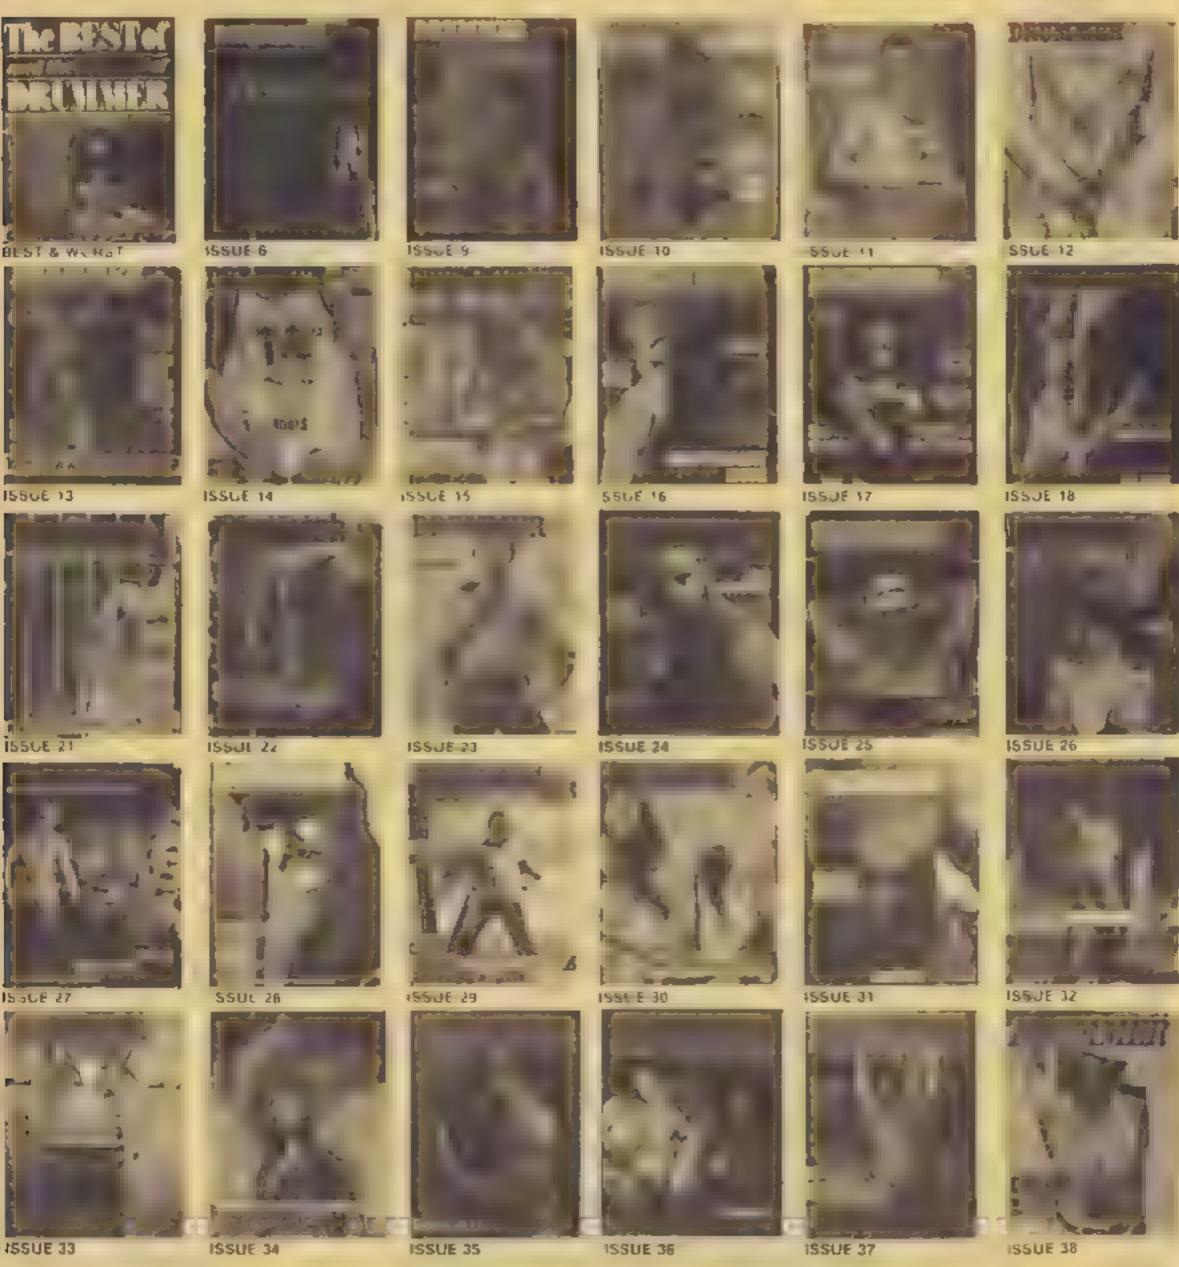

Then I took both big toes into my mouth at the same timebig, big!—and sucked hard, rewarded with Bill's heavy breathing and the way his toes quivered in my mouth—crazy, man! I even tried to get all five toes of one foot into my mouth together, and still make my tongue do figure-eights, but I could manage only four because they were so big. Then I laid my tongue flat on his soles, licking upwards, and finally took his heel in my hand and sucked and licked at the tendon. And then back again to the toes

Bill was clutching the sides of his mattress, his body twisting back and forth. He finally grabbed his cock and started to pump it. Seeing that, I reached up and pried his fingers loose, and began to lick my way swiftly up through the hair of his legs, first to one knee and then to the other, moving closer to the secret center where his balls were drawn up tight against the root of his cock. I sent my tongue on a journey of discovery into those tender hollows between balls and thigh. He reached down and curled the fingers of both hands under my jawbones, pulking upwards and pressing my nose hard and tight against his balls.

And then at last I reached the goal. His cock stood up stiff and proud just next to my cheek. I raised my head and took the end of it into my mouth. A soft sighing came from him, and I began to move my mouth up and down on his cock, Then firmly and slowly I took the entire length of it into my mouth...

At that moment the door opened and Jim and Bob came in. "Well, looky what's happening here!" Jim said sarcastically. He stomped the snow from his boots.

"Gettin' so you can't leave 'em alone for a minute," Bob said, laughing.

I didn't mind their coming in—by this time we were all used to an audience. But I heard them taking off their clothes. My naked ass was high in the air and my head was bobbing up and down the length of Bill's cock. Out of the corner of my eye I saw Bob stepping in front of Bill's head and positioning himself over his face which was angled down a little over the edge of his bed. Bill's heavy breathing stopped all of a sudden. I raised my head and saw why. His mouth was plugged with the whole length of Bob's cock, his head between Bob's legs. I rested for a moment and took Bill's cock out of my mouth, fascinated to watch Bob's cockhead slide down Bill's throat. You could see the outline deep inside.

And then I felt something else. Jim crawled on his knees across the bed behind me. He put a big gob of something on my asshole, fumbling for the hole, and then, annoyed at my tightening up, rammed a finger into me, twisting it around. That made me suck Bill's cock again, with new vigor and excitement. Then I felt the merciless advance of Jim's cock in my asshole...but this time he was slow and careful as he stuck it into me. As soon as he was deep in all the way, his pubic hair stiff against my ass, he bent double over me against my back. He was still wearing his jacket, which was icy with the polar air. Then he leaned on his palms and litted himself up above me so that the fuck-angle of his cock buzzed me straight on the joy-spot. It was an old trick of his, vaguely alarming because it made me feel too much like a woman. I loved the connection, but everything seemed to melt in my stomach.

"Damn, that's good," I head Bob mutter while he fucked Bill's throat. His balls swung back and forth, brushing over Bill's eyes and forehead, slapping against his face. Jim didn't speak He just kept pumping into the. Once he shifted his whole weight to one arm, and reached under me with his hand to find a nipple, twisting it until the pain made me back my ass up fiercely against his crotch—and that was exactly what he wanted. Now and then he would let out a roar and rub his red beard on my back until it felt raw, or bite me in the neck so hard I had to stop sucking on Bill's cock. But I still loved being stuffed at both ends, and wishing that just maybe this was the day when we'd all shoot our loads at the same time.

I could feel Jim's cock swetting a little in my ass, and Bill's cock doing the same down my throat. Bob's hips were pumping fast as his cock punished Bill's throat. He too seemed about ready tor orgasm. That left only me-and I didn't have to call up any fantasies this time. It was enough to see and feel us all at work, and have Jim's big cock in my ass. To hell with the imagination! This was the real thing. I had what I wanted, front and back, So I clamped down tight as I could on Jim, beginning to feel finally the sudden unexpected approach of my own orgasm underneath the rapid driving, the raging anger of Jim's cock thrusting up my ass; the relentless rolling and pushing, the exciting shoving of Bill's cock down my throat-for he was pushing upwards. now, his long slick cock poking hard against the backwall of my throat. The silky connections in my body turned spiky and electric, and all the fibers of my skin and flesh and muscles awakened. Ecstasy began to burn brightly behind my shut eyelids, and the nerve endings in my groin raced over me in sparkling complex echoes from toes to scalp, reaching everywhere, up and down the inside of my arms, into armpits and around nipples, surging and tingling, and all of a sudden...

Jim let out a great roar and at the same time Bob started to moan. An extra deep thrust of Bill's cock told me that he had also started. All of that turned me on more, and the frantic movement of our bodies made me begin to quiver, carried me farther and deeper into the whirlpool of delight. I shifted a knee to rub my cock against Bill's foot and ankle, knowing that small touch to be ail I needed, and the locks opened as if a small bomb had blown away the doors, and I came all over Bill's feet and ankles, everything overflowing with my gyzym.

We'd all made it together...

Suddenly everything was quiet. Only the humming of the generator was audible, and the rumbling of the propane stove. The heavy breathing faded slowly away, the sighing was barely heard, the heartbeats slowly returned to normal...

Yeah. All over. Exit the captains and kings to organ recessional. Bill's diminishing cock slid out of my mouth, and I felt Jim slowly pulling back out of my ass.

"Man," Bob said weakly, taking his cock out of Bill's throat, "that's the first time we all came together."

And in that moment of the little death, there was a loud shattering knocking at the door.

"Who the hell's that?" Jim said into the sudden silence in the

I climbed between the bodies, jumped from the bunk and ran to the window. I breathed on it and rubbed a small spot in the frost so I could see

Out on the snow, standing motionless on the ice in the dark twilight, I saw a group of figures, not moving, lined one behind the other, maybe ten or twelve. And I could also see—turning my head a little—one ione figure standing right at our door. I couldn't tell whether it was a man or woman. It was dressed like an Eskimo. The fur hood hid the face. It stood patiently waiting for the door to open.

IV. The Outsider Inside or: Inside the Outsider

The Eskimo boy sat motionless on a bench next to the stove. He had taken off his heavy fur jacket and had on a loose open-neck shirt of linen or some light fabric, decorated with rather primitive but well-done designs. Bob was trying to explain to us what he had been able to learn of the reasons for the boy's visit. The line of men that had brought him had vanished into the night.

"Their religion...well, it's really an awful mess. The guy's here because he's a sort of sacrifice to Sedan, the mutilated Eskimo goddess. During the hunting season the mendon't fuck their women because they're afraid they'll insult the wind-gods and the ice-gods and spoil the catch. And the catch was extremely small this year. They blame us because we've been fucking each other."

"How the hell could they know that?" Jim exploded

Bob shrugged. "I dunno, but they found out. And that's why they sent Inouk over to us. We're supposed to fuck him, and that'll take away the bad hunt-magic."

"What's going to happen to him later on?" I said, looking at

"They'll take him back and cleanse him—purify him, and everything will go on as usual."

"Without hurting him in any way?" Bill asked.

"Only if we damage him," Bob said.

The young man was surely the pride of his tribe. He did not have the moonface of the average Eskimo, and certainly not their stubs of black teeth. Actually he looked like a beautiful young Polynesian with his well-shaped head, his slanted eyes, and smooth black hair. His nose was slender and straight instead of being smashed flat into his face. His hands were slim and delicate.

"He's been cleansed by their rites already," Bob went on, "so he's ready for anything. At once. We have to use him and put him out in front of the door at the same time tomorrow night."

"Oh man!" Jim said. "A real purty Eskimo asshole to fuck!"

"Too bad he got here after we'd shot our loads," Bob said.

"Oh, we'll manage somehow," Jim said, sardonic, "My personal opinion is we ought atake a day off and dedicate ourselves to this the best we can. International relations. And we don't wanta insult the gods of this place, do we?" he said with a dirty grin. "Not every day a handsome arctic specimen drops into our partour, hey?"

"Yeah, we ought give the kid a good reception," Bill said, no less sarcastic. "Just to show them how close the luck of the hunt lies to our hearts. We sure don't want a whole tribe to starve because of us."

"Right on," I said

But we really were pretty well pooped at the moment. While Bob tried to comfort Irrouk with his pidgin English-Eskimo, and help him lose his fear of the white demons who had come to endanger the animal catch, I scrubbed a pan in our sink and Bill took a nap Jim retired behind the screen for some reason or other.

Bob turned to me. "We should feed the sacrificial lamb first, maybe," he said

"Good idea "

The kid was certainly no older than nineteen. And his handsome face lit up as we opened a few cans and put them before him. He hesitated at first, but then became braver and ate ravenously—mackerel in oil, cheese, corned beef, butter, sausage, bread, even dating to sample the white grape Juice. It must have been a feast for him if he had been used to blubber and fish

"Sort of like fattening the lamb before the slaughter, ain't 17"

"Yeah," Bob said with a chuckle. "But let's just eat him, not kill him."

It was midnight by the chronometer before we all felt fit again. Vesicles in the young don't take long to fill up. The sun had disappeared completely by now and the winds were blowing like hell outside. It was hot inside our house of sin. We hadn't turned down the heater, as we usually did when going to bed, largely because we hadn't gone to bed...yet.

"Who's suppose to start?" Bill said, "Wanna draw cards?"
"Hell no," Jim boomed, "We're gonna attack from all sides.

Tell him to get undressed."

Bob said something to the kid in that rough but velvety soft dialect. The boy looked a little anxious as he started to take off his underfur and boots and shirt. We watched him silently—piece after piece, layer after layer, it was a fantastically exciting slow strip-tease. My mouth got very dry.

Leg-furs and pants came down at last—and the boy was naked. His public hair was straight and black, not curly and wiry, and his supple limber body could have been that of a young gymnast. He was shivering a little, standing there, and he held his hands crossed in front of his crotch. Between his hands, however, hung down a long, dark, and uncut cock.

"Damn it," Jim said. "I've already got a hardon."

Me too...oid Betsy had uncurled and stiffened in her secret sweaty nest

Bob stepped croser to Inouk, sniffing. "They rubbed him with whale grease and snow," he said. "Smells mighty clean."

And then we moved in like a pack of wolves.

The events of that night of arctic orgy took on a dream-like quality as the hours slipped by. I had thought that the boy would be shy, mexperienced, frightened. He was anything but that. He could have been a prime hustler in San Francisco or New York. Fucking him in the mouth was like putting your cock into a hot furnace—and where did all his teeth go? Sticking your cock in his ass was like shoving it into a tight clamped tunnel layered with stick hot rubber. Part of the time he was on all fours, with Bill at his mouth and myself at his ass, and later. Bob crawled underneath the kild and took his long dark cock into his mouth. But he didn't make him come—didn't want the young man to lose interest.

When so much sex floods out so rapidly, events become unreal—fantastic, mixed-up. You lose all sense of time and space, frantic to spill your gyzym in as many ways as possible—and as many times. A kind of dream-mechanics takes over in a frenzy of lust. One moment you are standing here, and the next moment there—except you haven't any idea how or when you moved from one place or position to the other. Events become as illogical and as altered as they do in dreams—and yet you never pause to question their sequence. And you seem to get drunker and drunker—not on liquor but on the fumes and excitement of the sexual rage within. The id comes forth to dance on your ego—and you don't give a damn. The eyes are blinded, judgment is fogged, and common sense dashes out the door

At one point I dimly remember Jim's bellowing roar as he shot off in the young man's ass, watching his trembling body and quivering shoulders as he bent nearly double—and then in the next moment it was myself who had taken his place behind those pale amber half-moons, reddened by the assaults his flesh had endured that night, and it was my own cock that entered the puckered hole. I had no way of knowing if Inouk had clamped and clutched Jim the way he did me—or if he sensed a new cock in his ass and felt he had to give the newcomer a special treat. But he pressed and squeezed and pushed his rump light back against me, and I felt the muscles inside the red tunnel were inching me farther in with each thrust I made. The small circular movements of his soft sweet ass called up the wildest visions in my head—sailors lined up in front of me, policemen ground their heavy-heeled boots into my groin and stepped on my neck to make me lick their feet, lumberjacks and construction workers and Arabs and blacks waited in the wings. All the best and most powerful figures of my entire life swirled around me and over me while I fucked that Eskimo boy in the ass. And Bob stopped sucking the kid's dick and began to lick my balls, his face clutched between the wetness of my thighs, while I pulled back from that sweet ass and then slammed back into it again and again....

And I came and came Panting, I collapsed on the bunk. Someone was still at work on Inouk. Bob got to his feet and then sat down beside me.

"He's got a nickname in Eskimo," Bob said. "Far as I can make out, it means 'He who never gets tired'."

"You think his tribe knows he's a manlover?" I said, still breathing hard.

"Of course. That's the reason they sent him to us. It would have been an insult to send one of their women, and the goddess would have been even more angry."

"The youngster's a minor deity himself," I said. "If Zeus had had a Ganymede like this one, the Greek religion would be the world's largest, and we'd all be wearing chitons instead of pants."

Bob laughed and got up from the bed. I went into a half-doze, and things seemed very dim after that. I would half-open my eyes from time to time... to see Jim walking around the room holding the kid up in the air, his ass impaled on Jim's cock. Bob—no, maybe Bill—at another time had Inouk bent over a chair, and then later someone was screwing him as the young man lay on his back on the table, with his legs in the air...

V. How Sweet It Is!

...and someone else sat in a corner jacking off...

It must have been about six o'clock in the morning when I woke up—six by the chronometer. It was night outside, of course. I was lying naked on my bunk. The room was stifling and very hot Inouk was as eep on Bob's bunk, with Bob lying behind him, his crotch pressed close against the boy's butt—and for all I knew, maybe even Bob's cock was inside. The room was a disaster.

I looked for Jim. He was lying naked on his belly atop his own bunk, arms stretched above his head in a kind of parenthesis. The position placed his hands practically around the center tent-support. It looked as if he might have been clutching it when he suddenly dropped off to sleep.

It was too much, too perfect. Very quietly I got out of bed and took the handcuffs from my locker. Then cautiously, carefully, on naked feet I crept closer to him. A stealthy gentle pull, a snap—and both of his wrists were locked around the sturdy center-pole

Oddly enough, he didn't wake up. Behind the folding screen I looked for the ropes he was always using on me—most of the time unnecessarily—and found two of them. Then with extreme caution I tied one around his left ankle, pulled it to the bunk-post, and tied it tight. Then the right one.

Still asleep? It didn't seem possible. He must have been exhausted. I found the belt he'd used on me, doubled it, with the buckle at the striking end.

I stood next to him hefting the belt, grabbing it at one end and stroking the length of it with my other hand. I felt like a David who had come upon Goliath sleeping, and was about to waylay him. An incredible rush of power raced through me as I tooked at the powerless sleeping figure—the sadist's surge, clutching at my lungs, making my palms wet, spreading tiny red spots over my field of vision...

I lifted my arm and brought the buckle-end down on his ass with a mighty thwack! It sounded like the thunderclap on the day of judgment. A bellow burst from him—and everyone else woke up. I paid no attention to them. Jim was my job.

He was raging and roaring, thrashing on his bed. "You gahdamned motherfucker!" he shouted. "Lemme up! I'll beat the livin' shit out of you! I'll kill you!"

I paid no attention, just went on laying leather as hard as I could. His ass had turned scarlet, and was rising in broad welts and streaks—and small droplets of blood where the buckle bit into him. He cursed and yelled—mostly threats of death mixed in with hot pokers up my ass... and unspeakable tortures. He raved and struggled, litting himself up, trying to get loose, and then trying to avoid the beltstrokes which didn't stop. I caught a glimpse of Inouk looking pale and frightened—but both 8ob and Bill were grinning, and even 8ob let out a two-fingered whistle that added to the din...

...and then something strange happened. The furious roaring stopped all of a sudden. Jim buried his face in the pillow, his shoulders heaving. At first I thought he was ashamed of his yelling, deciding to handle it like a man. But then I grew aware between the blows of a kind of mulfled choking...sobbing? Was the big old bad mean sadist crying? Had he crumbled?

He had indeed. Into that strangled voice came a strange new note. He was saying something into the pillow, but I couldn't make out the words.

"What's up?" I said, stopping the blows and grabbing him by the back of his hair.

Face red, furious, tears streaming from his eyes, he turned towards me

"Fuck me!" he said, strangling and choking again, "I said 'Fuck me," you asshole!"

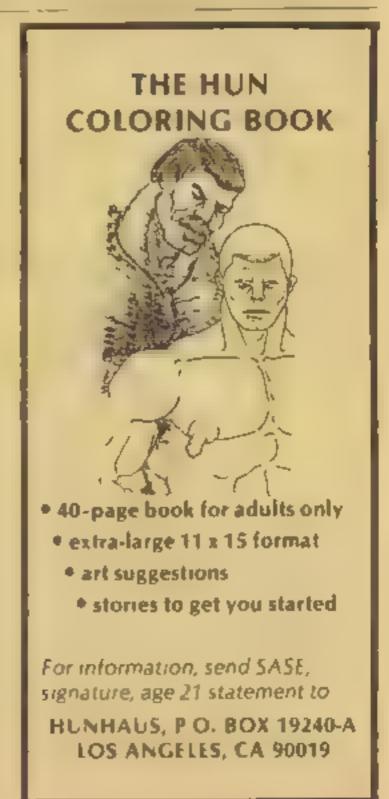

I couldn't help it-I snorted a laugh which I managed to change over into a bellow-"Sure, gahdamn itl"

I jumped on the bed, spit on my cock and rubbed it slick, and took spit on my fingers to stick at his asshole. And then with one mad ram, filled with all the piled-up hatred of the weeks of pain and humiliation, it gave him what he had done to me so many times—with the first violent shove I was in him up to my balls, and then I fucked him as brutally as I could—long, long, and hard. His ass was on fire, scarlet and crisscrossed with welts. He screamed with that first shove, but that was the end of the noise. The howling stopped. On my cock, pumping in his hot ass, I felt something new—a kind of wave-like pulling movement of the muscles deep inside him, drawing me deeper and deeper into his guts. Something else astonished me—my cock was tingling with desire up there in its hot encasement, itching to explode, joyously waiting for the ultimate punishment to give to this sadist, this executioner, for he had indeed over the long weeks.

almost killed something in me—my desire to be a man. And this was the only way I knew to get my manhood back.

I had waited a long time for this moment, but the wait was of itself cutting the moment short. Anticipation and hatred—and the final success—brought me to the edge sooner than I expected, for I would have liked to go on fucking him for as many hours as he had fucked me. But the friction—even without fantasy—is bound to have its results. I exploded inside him, watching behind my tight-squeezed eyelids the stream of my gyzym seeming to shoot a high arc up among the stars...

VI. L'Envoi

There is not much left to say. After our arctic orgy, all turned peaceful. We sent knowk home, and before we left we learned that the angry goddess of their myth-religion had given them a good catch, larger than ever before. In a couple of weeks a helicopter came to take away the precious equipment, and afterwards returned to take us home.

We each went our separate ways. After our study, with its results and maps and photographs, the Apollo missions were interrupted, possibly never to be resumed. Our data went into the NASA computers and was perhaps never seen again. And the public heard no more about the sterility of the astronauts.

There was word from Bob only once after that, and not from the others. He visited me in Chicago, and we got it on a few times in memory of arctic nights.

And something else. I wrote one letter, to a certain Navy psychiatrist. I thanked him for the friendly advice he had given me about my conduct on 'Project Hole." And I also told him if I ever had the pleasure of seeing him again that I would—without any malice at all—hit him so fucking hard that he could pick up his head from the corner of the room.

I never did get an answer from him. Very strange, huh? And very impolite. But about four years later, one night in Chicago a funny little bald-headed man picked me up, took me to his room in the Palmer House, and went down on me. He was drunk as hell, and passed out after he had finished. I left him tied down naked on his bed, and hoped he had a good story for the hotel maid the next morning.

	(I am o	ver 21)

Dear Larry,

I'm an older male who enjoys the piss scene. Some time ago, my prostate enlarged and I was put on self-catheterization. In time I found it enjoyable to pee and to masturbate using a catheter. Now I've had a prostate operation and can have only dry ejaculations. My questions are

1. Will other men be turned off, due to dry ejaculations?

Would like information on the catheter scene. Are other guys into this, etc.?

3. Do you know of any company that sells video tapes of men pissing and drinking piss?

C, Florida

Dear C.

To take your questions in turn:

1) Some guys are going to be turned off, others not. In the present health crisis, it might be a good selling point. Besides, how is the other guy going to know until after the fact?

2) There are a lot of guys into catheters, as there are into almost any scene your can think of, I haven't heard much about this going on in Florida, at least not large groups of guys with this interest. Of course, Key West seems to have a little of everything. I do know that the scene is well established in NYC, SF, LA, and Chicago.

3) I have a seen a number of videos which show men pissing, but drinking piss is taboo for commercial productions.

Dear Larry (Sir),

I'm 23, 6'2", brown eyes I was recently discharged from the Navy after serving my full four years, during which I had one long affair with an officer who introduced me to bondage and SM. I've now moved to the desert, where there are many gay men, but most with lovers. Also, I have only found a few "real men."

I have a lot of sexual energy, and while I've been told I'd make a good "Daddy," I'd much prefer to be a "son" first, Except for the Navy, my experience is limited—just one spree in Los Angeles (Silverlake), during which I had my left nipple pierced and got a small tattoo on my ass. As a result of my military experiences, I am very much into uniforms. At the moment, I'm working at a job with no future, just to pay the rent and put food in the fridge.

So my question is: How do I go about finding a "Daddy" (not a "sugar daddy")? Respectfully,

Confused, Palm Springs

Dear Confused.

At your age, most of us were in the same space as you. As you have already discovered, you are probably frunting in the wrong forest. I'm sure this letter will draw plenty of responses, but whether they will be any better than you'd get from an ad is hard to tell. I would suggest that LA or San Francisco is going to be more productive for you, but also more dangerous in several respects. You sound young and vulnerable; the big cittes can eat you alive if you aren't prepared-emotionally and financially—to cope. Neither is this the time to go out and have a lot of experiences, trying to find the right guy. Let's see what kind of reponses you get, and we can go from there.

Dear Larry,

After some time lapse, I have started buying an occasional Drummer because I find a portion of the material a turn-on. The heavy stuff has the opposite effect, however. In trying to categorize my sexual interests. I have to say that these center mainly on lucking—love it either way, except that I do like to do things that some of my past partners have thought weird. For instance, I might want to wear a hat when I'm fucking or get fucked with a dildo. I'm 36, and a really good fuck

Since reading the last issue of Drummer, I have really been fantasizing about finding a Master, but I'm afraid of getting into a situation where I give up everything else and suddenly find myself dumped because the Master has gotten. tired of me, or where I walk out because he can't satisfy me in a monogamous relationship. I've been tied down and found it boring; I've been spanked and beaten and it turned me off. We have one bar here in Austin that caters to a leather/Levi group, but most of the guys look seedy and unhealthy. I'd love a well-bred Master with some class and self-respect who took care of himself. Does such a rare bird exist?

One other question: Some guys in the Drummer classifieds list a number such an "Interchain 1234" or an "LF" number, Can you explain? Thanks a lot.

HIM, Austin

Dear HIM,

I have cut your letter down considerably, but hope I've retained the essence of it. You are in the status I have always classified as "fringe" to the leather scene. That is, the idea turns you on, but the heavy action does not. In this you are certainly not alone, and on this basis finding a partner should not be difficult.

However, I also detect the underlying problem as two-fold. First, you want a Master, but you want to call the shots. Secondly, you are probably so compulsive (and maybe bitchy) that it's going to be hard for anyone to live with you. What you need in a good Master who'll tie you down and show you who's boss, fucking you silly into the bargain... then leaving you in bondage until you cry "uncle." If you're ever lucky enough to have that happen to you, it might awaken the latent qualities that will make you acceptable to your well-bred, self-respecting Master.

Drummer's Leather Fraternity and Interchain offer a postal forwarding service for their members. You can get information on the LF by writing to Drummer.

Dear Larry,

I'm a longtime reader of Drummer and your books, and just about everything else that's half-way literate in the Leather/SM genre. The trouble is, there isn't enough published that is really novellength by someone who understands the scene like you guys do. It seems to me that a few years back (maybe mid-70s) there was a lot of good stuff being put out by Olympia Press in New York, and whatever that outfit was in San Diego that used to publish stories by you and Dirk Vanden, and a few others. What's happened to all of them? I thought things had loosened up to a point where they could publish almost anything they wanted to. After all, the leather scene is certainly a lot more visible than ever before. Isn't the reading audience there, and ready-made for them?

Chuck, Indianapolis

Dear Chuck,

I'm with you! But the story I get from the guys with the money and outlets is that the increase in publishing costs has grown even more rapidly than the potential audience. I've seen a number of promising talents appear on the scene in the last few years, and I'd really enjoy reading them in larger formats, it's too bad no one struck while the fron was really hot. Now, the likes of Andrea Whats-her-name and others who think some man might want to rape them (though God knows why) are trying to get local governments to pass laws to cut back what's already available. I'm afraid we're heading into a state where bible tracts are all that's left. Of course, some'a them guys were pretty kinky.

(If you would like to have Larry Townsend address a particular problem or issue, you can write him via Leather Notebook, Drummer, 640 Natoma Street, San Francisco, CA 93103)

INTERNATIONAL MR. LEATHER 1985 A Patrick Toner Portfolio or

The Adventures of a Young Leatherman on His Way to (the) Top

In private, he's soft-spoken, friendly, a little mysterious. At public appearances he speaks with articulate authority, projects a powerful masculine presence, and looks...well, good enough to eatespecially when clad in his trademark thighhigh leather boots, fingertip-to-elbow gloves, leather jock and harness.

When Patrick Toner first appeared in the Drummer offices almost exactly two years ago, freshly arrived in San Francisco from the South and only a couple of years past his teens, we had a feeling he was going to go places. And we knew just the place to put him first—on the cover of Drummer. That legendary cover shot (Drummer 71) and the nude photo inside set off quite a commotion among our readers. They demanded more. They got more, with Patrick appearing in a series of photo spreads in Drummer and Mach, matched up with Master Brutus of The Compound, pulling rank on a young partner into uniforms, and taking the shears to the outrageous Scott O'Hara in the classic "Slaveshaving" session.

Meanwhile, Patrick was making lots of friends in the San Francisco leather community, working as a model and bartender, appearing with the erotic Jon Kass Dancers at Mr. Drummer regional and national contests over the last two years, and all the while continuing to build his naturally compact, muscular frame into an ever more impressive physique—a body that was born for leather. It was no surprise when he was selected to represent Chaps Bar at this year's International Mr. Leather contest in Chicago—and no surprise when he brought the banner home to San Francisco.

Like Seattle's Steven Reiswig, the new Mr. Drummer 1985, Toner takes his title seriously, as an opportunity to represent the best attributes of leathermen everywhere.

It's been a busy two years, impossible to cover in a few paragraphs. But pictures speak louder than words. Let's go back ...

FIRST STOP: A MEETING WITH MASTER BRUTUS AT THE COMPOUND

A session with D.I Brutus in the depths of the infamous Compound provides quite an initiation for any man. Our young leatherman showed his stuff, running the gauntlet with guts, determination, and a hell of a lot of stamina—and ended up teaching Brutus himself a few new tricks.

SLAVESHAVING

A dynamite encounter, set to the erotic mood music of buzzing electric shears. When the wild and woolly winner of the "Biggest Dick in San Francisco" contest came to us and said he was ready to turn in his latest punk haircut for something more severe, we decided to go all the way and handed the clippers to our budding barber. Take it off. Take it all off...

MILITARY MANEUVERS & MOVING VIOLATIONS

In which our young leatherman showed he knew his way in and out of uniforms (mostly out). When the Top Brass says your ass is grass, it's time to pull rank—and step on the accelerator. Away we go...

LEATHER LIFE

Over the past two years, few men have been as visible on the San Francisco leather scene: On stage (performing with the hyper-erotic John Kass Dancers, or entering into competition with his fellow leathermen), in the bar (usually Chaps, which sponsored his entry in the International Mr. Leather contest), on the streets (celebrating Gay Freedom Day, leather-style). And the biggest year of all is just beginning...

"SMUT IS WHERE

'Others read vou— What do you read for a turn-on?"

That was the question we recently posed to a number of celebrated writers and ecitors in the erotic field. The result a cross-section of choices from the writers who turn you on, talking about the stuff that keeps them turning the pages at hight—with one hand. Some of the answers may surprise you.

Phil Andros (The Amazing Adventures of Phil Andros)

When just a tad I got my first hard-on while reading the Song of Solomon in the B ble How I justed over my beloved. whose belly was like bright every overlaid with sapphires, whose legs were pillars of marble and whose neck a tower of David, whose body ravished me, and whose garments sme red of honey and milk Moreover, his lips were as a thread of scarlet, his hair black as a raven's. Hot damn! My beloved really turned me on And from that song came the first proddings to hustle, for t was advised there to rise and go about the city in the streets seeking him whom my soul oved. And when I found him! was not to let him go, until I had brought him into my house, by gum. What happened there was continued in the fascinating story of Sorlom and Gomorrah and the visiting angels later on, having grown larger and having exhausted myse flover Solomon and his dove's eyes, I turned to those wonderful typewritten stories that circulated from hand to hand-much thumbed and with pages sticking together, bearing stains of coffee, tomato juice, and other liguids too vile to mention. Particularly effective was the story. of Angelo with the monstrous endowment, and of the two handsome cops to whose care he was assigned; what happened then can move me even to this day

And what of now? There are some who bring joy and peace and calm-Aaron writing about his rod of blue light, John's about bensonite, Jack's about the sadness of leather. and Mason's on brig-a-dears. And I must now make the most shameful contession of all: ole Betsy occasionally still untoids a little in the cramped and sweaty nest wherein she lies, not necessarily because I am reading my very own writing-which Mr. Quisp has said is "about as delicate as a belch," but because of the prodding given by isolated paragraphs describing certain events, stimulus to the memories of early loves, of lost faces and staiwart temembered bodies, of trim strong buttocks and vanished cocks, all of which make me stand to attention and give a last salute to all the conflicts that have been waged upon the battlefields of a thousand beds

T.R. Witomski Letter from the Slaveinuster

You'd like me to say something like the Sears Catalog—the shoe pages—or the compleat oeuvre of Andrea Dworkin, wouldn't you? Come to think of it the Sears shoe ads aren't bad.

Perhaps because I'm in the porno business, I find most erotic writing so ephemeral that even as it's turning me on, it's evaporating in my mind There's very little that I can reread and still get a hard-on over But I do like to go back to my cotlection of the issues of Straight To Hell that Boyd McDonald edited. There's a rawness and an immed acy to that stuff that't really wonderful. It's continually freshi probably because it's so very unpretentious. And it's also very funny. And laughing while jerking off, that's kinda k nky, no?

I also like some of the SM classics—Story of O. Mister Benson, all of de Sade, and I'd put The Claiming of Sleeping Beauty into this group, too And the vast bulk of the early stories of John Preston retain their erotic power even after many readings. They really should be collected into one volume; it's fuckin' annoying to have to search through a pile of old magazines looking for the particular Preston story that I fee like jerking off to at the moment

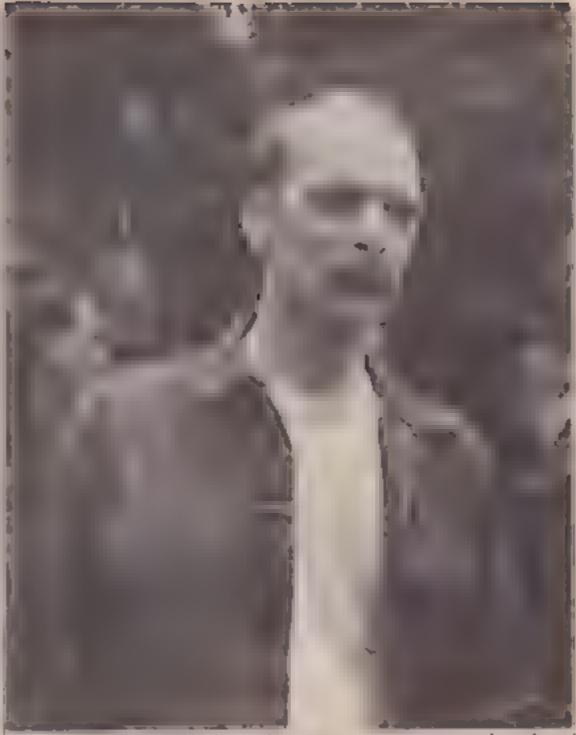

Jack Fritscher (Corporal in Charge of Taking Care of Captain O'Malley,

Sam Steward (Phil Andros) is the father of gay writing. I had enjoyed his stories for so long that when I was editor of Drymmer, I invited Sam to appear in our pages. Sam invented erotic cops. Buyd MacDonald has always been a lave sicko to read from Straight To Hell through his Juice and Cum anthologies precisely because the man is a perversatile genius with a sexy intellect. Larry Townsend's work, by that I mean his own writing as much as his anthology-editing, was an early turn-on, particularly The Leatherman's Handbook Smut is where you find it Gay mags don't really feed me much. I check the straight press-at-large for the tough stuff that puts the cob down my leg. A few samples.

 The Pit, about corporations torturing executives on weekend training courses with bondage, crucifixion, electricity, coffins, and shit (Gene Church, Pocket Books, 1973)

 P O W , A Definitive History of the American POW 66 DRUMMER

JOHN PRESTON: Exotic locales, slavery ancient and modern (Photo Robert Pruzan)

Experience, leaturing excrutiating long-term bondage, beatings, hangings, and one fascinating forture-masturbation scene; this nonfiction authored by John G. Hubbell and published by Reader's Digest Press, 1976, is an S&M. jewel for any man's IO library.

 Always check Time-Life publications for their continuing sick interest in torture and bondage and slime, a classic. representative example is from Lite, October 10, 1969 "The Hog-Tied Brig Rats of Camp Pendleton."1"use" it to Mostly, however, it's video that for the last live years has turned me on I have over 150 hours of homemade and protessional bodybuilding competition tapes. I make the bodybuilders pose in slowmoor I freeze-frame them and they become, in my Crisco hand, heroic subjects/objects of erotic $&M.

The Slave & Master Videos out of Chicago, when the music doesn't drown out the crack of the whips and the screaming, are highly appealrng. Professional wrestling videotapes with, say, Hulk Hogan, Mean Mike Masters

Billy Jack, the Iron Sheik, and Ivan Koloff turn me inside out

Perhaps the best erotic videos for me are the Old Reliable solo pose/JO tapes of rough-trade street hustlers smoking cigars, beating their meat, and shadowboxing with the camera DRUMMER readers should be familiar with pix of the Old Reliable trash plus reviews of his tapes. They're evergreens in the hard-on department. They sport real TOP ATTITUDE!

Most recently, in Hollywood firms on video, I'd recommend totally the long nude, electric torture sequence that opens Charles Bronson's The Evil That Men Do. Also, the ever-sexy Harvey Keitel in a brill ant S&M movie about a cop and a killer, Contempt. One film I saw once in NYC that I'd love to see again is The Case of the Naves Brothers, a very severe torture documentary. (Anyone know where I can find a copy?)

As a writer, I get as many ideas beating off to video as I used to with popper-when we still could use popper and our dicks and our fists and our whips and our titclamps on other sick motherfuckers.

John Preston (Mr. Benson)

I actually have a hard time with most gay porn these days. I've written so very much that I can't separate myself from the stories and get into them. I'm constantly restrained by the writer's part of my mind that inteleres with statements like, "Oh, you did that one once," or, "No, that's not right," or same such other judgment.

It helps a lot when I am given a story with a fantastical setting that gives me the distance to enjoy the types of very explicit and very heavy

DON PERRY: Straight stuff

SM that turn me on Two examples come to mind

The Beauty books by A.N. Roquelaure are the only works that have threatened my cock with calluses in recent memory. The mythcal settings of the books let my imagination flow freely in the most lasicious ways. The humilations and the submissions of the Princes is some of the holtest stuff I've ever read. I return to it for one-handed reading constantly

The Beauty books share some things with another of my favorites, Aaron Travis' Slaves of the Empire. Not only is the setting in ancient times, but there is a complexity to the characters' psychologies in Travis (and in Roque aure) that makes the work even more enjoyable to me. One of the hottest scenes in gay porn is the one is Slaves where the hero and his antagonist are in the gladiators' changing room and the hero feel compelled to suck his enemy's cock Why? What does it mean and where is it going to take him? Those questions and the way they're resolved give the work more depth and the turn-on more intensity for me. I've erked off to those few pages often and 1'm sure I'll continue to in the future.

Another major source of literary turn-on for me is found in the various anthologies that Larry Townsend compiles. There is a certain kind of story that Townsend finds that is a sure-fire ignition of my sexual fantasies. It often involves a hidden but real form of slavery in comtemporary terms, Not always by the same author, this minute genre is most often concerned with awo men initiated into that world, each finding his own role as a Master and slave The intensity of the 5M is greater than in most other gay porn; there is, for instance, often a hint that the slave could be sold. An example, a favorite, is in Townsend's most recent publication, New Treasury of 5&M, Volume 7 "Toby," by Doc, not only fits the formula, it adds an element that always gets to me: I'm much more likely to be turned on by SM taking place. "organically" in a working class setting than sex in a setup, a leather bar or back room, for instance

The different setting doesn't have to be as blue collar as the Townsend collections often are, nor as exotic as the Travis or Roquelaure books. Kickboxer, a serial that appeared in Drummer, remains one of my all-time favorite works of pornography. Again, the psychology and the mythology combine in a magic way. There's a favorite scene in this work as well, when the protagonist presents himself to his mentor with appropriate submission, a state underlined by his role as "top" in the rest of the serial. Wonderful moment in gay erotical

Of course, I also love the Phil Andros books. They certainly can cause an ooze from my cockhead often. But I read them too much for their writing and their historical importance nowadays, I'm afraid Similarly, I read everything I can by T.R Witomski, but I'm too often too amused by his humor and wit to really appreciate them as porn.

Generally, I'm turned off by violence. Rape isn't going to do it for me. I enjoy situations where the intricacies of a dominant/submissive role are explored, where the people discover themselves in the sex, and where the sex is explicit and at least insightful for the myself with what limited straight erotical could get my hands on, then pretend the female roles were male. Marcus van Heller was my favorite author. In his story of the Borgia family, when Lucretia has her virginity taken by her big, humpy father exclaiming

Roy F. Wood (Restless Rednecks: Gay Stories of the Changing South)

Believe if or not, I very seldom read gay erotica, and never form the viewpoint of being turned on by it. About the only thing along such lines. which I've read are the Phil-Andros books, partly because I was doing reviews of a couple of them, and partly because Ladmire Andros as a writer—especially in the instances when he is less explicit... As for stories in the gay slicks, I simply glance at them, to see what "others" in the business are doing

Don Perry ("Cockwalk").

Growing up in a rural New England town made it extremely difficult to obtain gay erotica. I had to content

"Oh, daddy! Daddy!"— well...you can see how easy it was to fantasize myself as a lucky young man in her place

I still love straight erotic stories and movies. They're great for the imagination, they keep us in touch with our important counterparts, and they lend subite muances to our ideas of lovemaking that might otherwise stagnate or grow stale

People fantasize about themselves. I would be curious to know how many writers of erotic stories occasionally read themselves for a turn-on I do. Because I write to turn myself on. And I am, after, my own worst critic. I figure if I can turn myself on, others will be too

Mam'selle Victorie (Dominatrix, Editrix):

I'm always looking for type (and life for that matter) ripe with rough thrusting and secret life rituals, be they milstary, monastic or educational And riding the razor's edge of authenticity/electricity without one snuffing the other. Harriet Marwood and Edith Cadivec, both governesses, are my chief arousal authors; English discipline scenes are guaranteed over-the-edge orgasm triggers and those grande dames are style guides for me, too. On the other hand, this pot-bellied pederast who shares my libido claims a lot of my jack-off time, too, and he had me numping my fist to Benson and "Blue Light" or any reality well-spun suspenseful abuse to narrow-assed blunds. Sweet Tooth and The Real Thing were favorites in their time, but then so were Auto-Erotic Fatalaties and Against Our Willi

John Barton ("The Provost" stories)

What do I read for a turn-on? That is a turn-on to answer—I can feel it already—since it will cause me to contemplate all my favorite excitements and dwell on them with more than usual loving detail.

The short answer is: "Sex and sadism." I be leve the two are mexicially intertwined in the human psyche, each feeding on the other's excitement and fueling it in turn, a perfect dynamo of human lust which clicks off only when the sadist—or the voyeur, be he masochistic participant or one-handed reader—feels his pleasure peak in the ecstasy of orgasm.

When I was just 10 I discovered texts describing Nazand Japanese torture of naked prisoners that made my randy young prick get hot and stiff and itchy for my pumping fist, and I have enjoyed the variants of these themes ever since. The original texts were not meant to be pornographic, although obviously they got me horny (and still do) and I know from correspondence that others have enjoyed them in the same way

For full enjoyment like the suffering parties to be male, stripped naked, cock and balls exposed to unrestricted ogling. Preferably young. And always helpless, whether tightly bound or scrambling bare-assed while their tormentors cavort around them, gleefully mocking their vain attempts to escape. Exciting in itself, sexy even without sadism, naked is an important part of helpless. Every inch of sensitive, bare skin exposed. Nothing shielding cock tuli stiff with fear. Bared balls churning in anticipation of agonies to come (ball torments are a special (urn-on). Bare ass begging for the whips and paddles, beits and boots to welt and bruise its bulging moons.

Hard cock is certainly important too. The point of the exercise. Simultaneously the stimulus and the reward Endlessly exciting and excited The perfect perpetual motion machine. The totmentors' hard cock—I prefer group scenes where the tormentors outnumber the sufferer(s)kindle their cruelties, inflame their sadism, reward their brutal ministrations with the ultimate earthly pleasure. The sufferer's hard cock mocks his miseries and betrays his innocence, suffusing the scene with the lurid glow of sex and exposing the perverted pleasure he is getting from the voyeuristic enjoyment of the lewd torments inflicted on his own nakedness.

Implicit in these specifics are the dynamics of domination and submission, the basic sexual equation of fucker over fuckee in more extreme, hence more exciting terms The pleasure of sex is only partly the plunging of penis in pussy. The essence of its excitement is the power of the facker retentlessly mastering the fuckee, gorging his prick in pleasure which the subjected one is helpless to deny him. Sadism surpasses simple sexual subjugation, using it as a tool to impose humiliating submission, but going much, much, much further, freely employing pain as the uit mate expression of absoultely uncontrolled conquest of the sufferer.

For the sadist, the pleasure is in the doing, experiencing the power, compressing each surge of pleasure within the confines of his achingly stiff prick till he feets it must explode. Each thrill inflames his need for more, and the lewder the sexual exploitation, the more diabolical the cruelty, the more intense the blaze of pleasure that pulses in his glowing, hard, hot fuckhorn

The masochistic pleasure of the sufferer is a voyeuristic phenomenon, an echo or reflection of the pleasure of the sadist which the sufferer derives from witnessing his own humiliation and torment even as the sadist enjoys performing it upon his nakedness. Sadistically erotic writing permits its readers to experience the same vicarious, voyeuristic pleasure without actually suffering or inflicting pain. Effective graphics or well-written prose duplicate within the mind of the beholder the same reactions experienced by the actual participants in a real event, stiffen his prick and stimulate the same pleasure as he fists his hard, hot cock that would be felt by real tormentors or their victims. In writing such things as my series on the Provost's pleasures, I try to provide a vivid feeling of "you are there" so that you are drawn into the scene and enjoy it vicariously, ogling the nakedness, appreciating the brute thrust of the tormentors' hard cocks and the lewd absurdity of the humiliated playthings' hard-ons, gloating at the vulnerability of each dangling, soft bag of balls, savoring the delicate scents of sweat and jism and the heady aromas of fear and feces, piss and power, teeling the sizzle of in your blood when the sufferer squeals or shrieks or pleads, thrilling to the sadists' lewdly abusive taunts and threats and mocking laughter

In my own cock-in-fist reading I look for the same things I try to put into my own erotic writing Vividly worded descriptions that conjure up the sights and sounds and smells of torment and domination Hrony tormentors heedless of their naked victims' misery, using the bare bodies for their pleasure without stint or inhitibion. Nude objects of the tormentors' lusty whims, helpless to escape their fate as mere things to be used and abused, helpless to suppress the humiliation of sharing with their tormentors the sexnakedness puts so obviously on view. These are the basics. The more ingenious the torments, the more lewdly delicious the sexual embellishments, the more perverse the sadistic twists that contort the sufferer to a full, unbinking knowledge of his thing-ness—the better!

I also firmly believe in the power of sexually obscene language to give a scene the full lurid glow of an unmistakeably sexual event, to give the reader his hardest hard-on and to prick his heightened sensitivities with sizzling tingles of purest lewd delight in what he witnesses in his mind's eye. To be fully effective in these terms, a piece need not be wantonly cruel or purely savage in its treatment of the sufferer, although this is frequently the case. Part One of "Cockwalk" by Don Perry In Drummer 83 is a good example of a completely satisfying treatment of a dominant completely possessing a submissive as his naked fucktoy without painful cruelty One of my favorite drawings simple shows a naked stud kneeling on a box, trussed like a turkey with his wrists pulled back between his thighs and fastened to his ankles, his astonished mouth stretched around one grinning rapist's huge hard-on while another teering featherman spears him from the rear. And some of my lavorite prose is in the letters correspondents have sent describing the fun other boys had with their naked bodies as they put them, bare-assed and stiff-pricked, through sometimes painful but mostly humiliating hazing ordeals in frat houses or locker rooms.

Do you, dear reader, have an experience like this that turns you on in your past? One where you were stripped and turned into a naked fucktoy till your termentor or termentors had their fill? One that powers a hard-on and fuels your jerk-off fantasy every time it comes to mind. If so share it with your fellow meat-beaters in the pages of Drummer!

Tom Hardy (Malory and His Masters)

has any erotic content, I get horny as hell

Bad writing turns me off, which is why I started writing pornography. The worst thing in the world is to have my meat throbbing and trip over an inept image or a misplaced conjunction. Downer! Instant relaxation! I figured the field needed me as much as I needed it; and like any sexual exchange, it would be mutally beneficial

What, specifically, do I read when I am lonely? Well, try the first half of Geroge Nader's Chrome, which gets you up. but not off. Then move on to Edgar Allan Poe's "The Pit and The Pendulum." Struggling against those ropes always gets me up. Then switch over to anything by Phil Andros, the Gay Porn world's single truly great writer. If you're getting the idea that I like to sit with it stiff for a long time, you're right. I couldn't write the stories I do if I didn't. If I had to get off instantly, the climax would be at the beginning, and that's not a story

And when it's time to shoot? Farly Larry Townsend stuff is great. Just about anything by Aaron Travis will pop my cork, and give me dreams. Drummer & MACH are the markets I shop in most, but the product I take home has to be well-written or it goes in the garbage. In short, my sexual tastes are literary. I'd love to tuck fack London

Aaron Travis (Slaves of the Empire)

My relationship with porn is deep, abiding and promiscuous; it fills a portion of my life that runs parallel with actual, lived sexual experience, a separate and entirely equal category. Like the manhunt, there is the pornhunt; and amid the many wasted or merely satisfying experiments, there are those glorious discoveries that keep me looking for more of the same, or returning again and again in heated, private moments to recouple with a passage that hits all the right spots.

Over the years, a handful of authors have consistently (or repeatedly) hit those spots from the early years of Drummer, Kurt Kreisler and Orlando Paris; from the cluttered, unchampioned racks at the adult bookstores. Phi Bennett, Tom Hardy, Steven Zady, Floyd Lawrence, Jack Evans and the inimitable Clav Caldwell (a writer more widely revered than he could possible know, given the zeroteedback of paperback porn titles are regrettably generic): Whipmaster, Bathhouse Bondage, Punished Prison Punks (set in Ruritanial), Sex Mechanics, Boss Con

For the last few years, my steady partner has been a writer I can only identify as Anonymous. (His publisher has entirely eliminated authors bylines in its books—an irritating and surely counterproductive trend. To find his books, I have to do a quick textual analysis—but I can spot his work by scanning only a few paragraphs) I've bought about 30 of A's books over the last three or so years; such a profific rate has begun to show in a lapse toward stale repetition, and he's a crude and hurried writer at best, but A tells the stories I want to read gritty tales of enslavement with a claustrophibic film noir atmosphere, populated by broken slaveboys and the harsh, guiltless men who use them. A few of his best (the in Drummer 83-84) and John Harton (whose "Provost" stories were serialized in Strokei are similar in many respects, both delivering sustained passages of obsessive, densely detailed, feverish erotic intensity. Perry writes voluptously visceral prose, stories that go squish and let out a squeal when you stick your linger in them, Barton is relentlessly obscene, he seems incapable, even in business correspondence, of writing more than three sentences without working himself up to a nearly hysterical pitch of excitation These two men are possessed of a certain kind of genius, and as with a regular partner who always delivers the goods, I look forward with a lump in my throat (and elsewhere) to whatever journey they'll take me on next.

HOT SHIT! AN INTERVIEW WITH MARTIN OF HOLLAND

In the summer of 1984 I travelled to Den Haag to interview Martin of Holland, a man who for some ten years now had been drawing scat fantasy pictures for an increasingly large and devoted following. He greets me at six o'clock in the morning at the ferry terminal in the Hook of Holland a petite man with wide eyes framed by glasses, and a cigar at the corner of his mouth. He smokes these little pungent cigars almost continuously the whole weekend we are together, and I often find myself catching grances of them out of the corner of my eye, imagining them as little hard turds

Martin speeds me through the calm mists of an industrial. European summer morning to his home in suburban Den Haag. He lives in an apartment. that is part of a sturdily built brick complex, with narrow staircases and a stillness that reminds me of a Bergmanesque nightmare. Beneath the tranquil calm of everyday middle class existence he subterranean desires. They run like the ceaseless silent sewers beneath the the awareness of our consciousness, flushing away the excreta of our daily existence so that it will not trouble us.

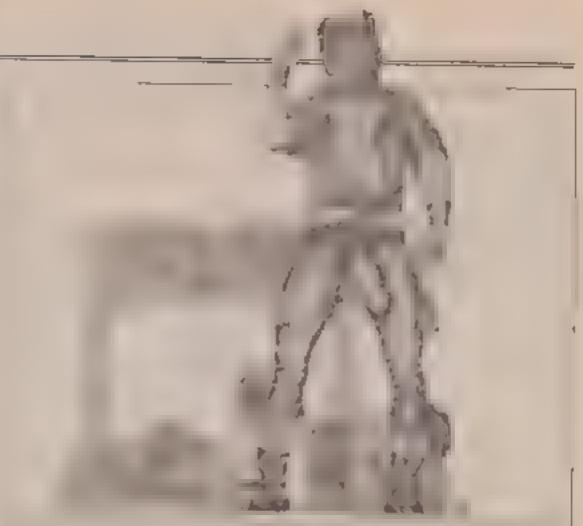

Like many Dutch homes, Martin's is gardeniess, and potted plants inhabit the living rooms. The shrubbery overhangs the little balcony at the back of the house on which I will sun myself with Martin the following day. The most unusual thing I notice at first glance. is that one wall in the dining room is entirely covered with display cases full of model cars. What an unexpected surprise—the world's number one scat artist collects model cars, lask why There is no particular reason, it just so happens that he does Why should there be a reason? Why should I need to know why? It just so happens

l am shown my bed, a pull down in the corner of Martin's arge study/drawing room

There is little natural light, and only a few paintings that I can see (a picture by Bastile of a turd issuing forth from a gaping arsehole is prominently displayed). Most of Martin's work, I later discover, is neatly catalogued or filed away. I attribute this, as I have read some Freud, to an anal retentiveness on his part, and this is a significant aspect, I feel, of a portrait—partly prejudged that I am painting of him, A psychological picture of a man who has drawn pictures that have given me so much pleasure

Martin shows me a large dark bathroom in which I try to picture him having sexshit sex—and see only a room. in which daily ablutions (of the sort you or I perform) are made. I have to confess to myself that I'm disappointed 1 expeced, at least, some little room tucked away somewhere, behind a secret door perhaps, tiled in ceramics, with a hose to flush the shit away Some room where men. fed for years on the fantastes of Martin's imagination, are led to be tred down, at the end of their pilgrimage, to feel the turds of their Master smeared over their willing bodies Martin's imagination is bounteous, mine, clearly, is feverish.

Martin eats like a bird. He smokes a lot and drinks a lot, but he pecks at his food, We have a small lunch and then settle into a discussion about his work. Martin is a child of gay tiberation, he began going to gay bars in Amsterdam around 1969. His first drawings-primitive early sketches, he now freely admits—were begun in 1971 The subject matter was charns, bikes, leather, oil and—a little daringly for the timewatersports. On the whole, the standard iconography of gay male SM art. Submissive bound men and dominant undormed Masters occupy nearly all of these drawings, they are all variations of a standard formula. There is little evidence of shit. By the middle 1970s, scat becomes an important subject: bound men with their faces beneath the arseholes of their (increasingly naked). Masters, their mouths stretching to accommodate large firm turds.

In 1976, Martin drew what we both agree to be one of his most well-received fantasies. it shows a man spread-eagled at the bottom of a pit, his arms and legs fastened to iron clasps in the floor. A pipe from a trough in which three men are pissing goes right down one wall of the pit and into his arsehole. So much piss has been poured into him that he now lies in a pool of it. At the top of the drawing, two men are shitting into creamic bowls; pipes from these connect to a single tube that is attached to a mask covering his head. Obviously, the man has not been able to consume all of the shit fed down to him, because a lot of it is pushing out from beneath the hood and across his chest. Between the two shitters is an "amyl unit" that controls the amount of the drug being sent to the attachment fixed to the man's nose. His balls, tied with a chain that stretches up lowards the ceiling, are controlled by the unseen hand. I have never seen another drawing that quite sums up the ultimate fantasy-and fears—of complete submission to the unbound desires of other men.

By 1979, Martin was drawing an almost exclusive diet of scat pictures, although some drawings (depicting vomit and spit) were variations on a theme. But, most noticeably, by the early 1980s the big hard turds had given way to scenes depicting men smearing each other in shit; orgies of euphoric messy sex that indicated to me a step beyond fantasizing about it into actually doing it. My experiences of shit sex have never been about eating Master's turds (or feeding it to some pig), they have been highly charged scenes of shit-smearing that have involved long hours of almost ritualistic bathing and cleansing afterwards (like coming home dirty after a game of rugby and having a good bath).

Another new element to emerge was humour (something that too many SM artists lack). For example, the Speciality Restaurant drawing from 1982 is a backside view of a bar in a restaurant. The menu reads: 80b's shit $19.50, Harry's shit $17.50, Kevin's shit $12.50—and so on. A waiter holds a plate beneath a cheerful short-order cook shitting a turd onto it

We talk about the role of the artist. I wonder aloud if I would have had so many scat fantasy wanks (and, later, scat scenes) if I'd never had Martin's drawings to stimulate my imagination. In other words, does a sexual artist (or pornographer?) create fantasies in those who see his drawings, or does he express fantasies that are already there but unstated? Martin says that he draws the things that turn him on. He accepted a few commissions once, but these proved problematic, as the drawings were not exact replications of the fantastes that the commissioners had in mind. ("The head is at 35° to the neck, not 37°, which is what I wanted," or "You have drawn a crease in the feather jacket, and creases turn me off.") Having learnt his lesson, Martin drew only what he desired.

This doesn't mean that Martin is not aware of his market, of the things that are likely to be scooped up. He shows me some sketches for a drawing he is currently working on, which we both agree is sure to be a hit. It shows three men in the back seat of a car. One is naked and submissive, the subject of the fantasy; the other two have police uniforms on. They are both presing turds into the mouth of the naked man, whose facial expression betrays fear and delight. One of the cops is saying: "Okay faggot, you said you wanted to eat pig shit. . "

We agree that if the paintings do anything to bring out repressed interests in shit sex, then that is all the better. A lot of people get turned on, and Martin gets to earn a living. But along with that goes an acknowledgement of responsibility. Scat is not a problemfree area of sexual activity; anyone getting into it needs to be made aware of the risksespecially the health risks involved. Just as anyone getting into any aspect of SMwhether piercing, catheters, bondage, CP, whateverneeds good safety informa-

Martin's activities in promoting shit sex extend to a club he had helped form called The Scat Club of Europe. This was set up in April 1983 with the predominant aim of helping facilitate contact between men into shit. It has well over 100 members now, mostly in Britain, Germany and Holiand, but including Switzerland, France, Scandinavia and the US. Every two or three months, a members list update and newsletter is sent out to all members. The newsletter includes stories, drawings, information and comment 94 DRUMMER pieces (two subjects recently have been AIDS and Customs/ censorship). There is also, of course, news of upcoming club activities. At Easter last year, for example, the Scat-Club held a party in a sauna in a town in Southern Holland Over 40 people attended a dinner-cum-shit-orgy that, by all accounts, was highly enjoyable Martin regrets, however, that the cleaning up alterwards involved a lot more shitwork than your normal club lunction

But health; a very tricky subject. Last year, Martin wrole a stirring personal comment piece for the newsletter. It was in answer to the fact that several of the club's members had left through fear of AIDS, and the news that lack, who ran the Shit List in the US, had dred of AIDS. The piece pointed out how all sexual activity between gay men is risky these days. The only way you're certain not to get AIDS is to stop having sex entirely. Martin argued that if you keep in good health, monitor the condition of your body, and bear in mind that eating shit does involve a health risk, then shit sex should not be seen as necessarily more dangerous than fisting, percing, or—for that matter—cocksucking, are mining boat people seen to be getting a little of the hysteria from the gay community that gay people have gotten from straights over AIDS

I talk a little about the antibourgeois (and therefore revolutionary?) feeling I get about shit sex. You know, how shitting all over somebody is an expression of domination in our society. How nice people don't talk about it, the most private of our bodily functions (nice peole will, of course, have apoplexy at the idea of looking at, sniffing or touching-let alone lickinga turd). Does scat represent an attack on bourgeois values? Does it conjure up an exciting. dangerous lite in opposition to a sanitized, riskless existence? We were all kids once, and kids explore and play with st—Freud called it the anal phase of development. But we get taught to ignore its erotic potential: we get potty trained into acceptable ways of behaving. Potty training, afer all, is our first interaction with the social community—we must learn to control ourselves before taking part in any social intercourse

Martin agrees that scat is an expression of dissension from what is prescribed as sexual; and that is something that even SM men have to come to terms with. All these sex ads for "anything goes" sex—anything, of course, except scat, What are these men afraid off he asks, For him, shit sex is really the "last taboo" in the SM world.

We drive up to Amsterdam together and visit the leather bars. Saturday night at the Eagle and Argos, we lose ourselves among the leathermen. They know nothing, or little, of scat, They don't want to know They want to lead respectable leathermen lives. Scal sex is too close to the knuckle of desire for them. It Is real "no limits" sex. No wonder Martin's drawings have been consistently rejected by an SM art dealer in Amsterdam. His drawings aren't safe: they show sex that makes most people feel uncomfortable. The pictures disturb and they question. They may not be as technically proficient as the work of Nigel kent or Tom of Finland, but they shock more, and they show real, fived sex without being overblown fantasies or overland with idealized notions of submission and dominance.

We drink each other's health and are engulfed by the remainder of the weekend. On my return to London 1 have an interesting chat with a man into bondage. He feels secure in the knowledge that a lot of men are into his particular bag: tying each other up and wanking. He finds shit sex difficult to comprehend. What about the diseases? he says Isn't it a way of expressing your self-contempt or your self-hatred-and can that be really healthy?

Maybe we haven't come that far from Freud

A KISS IS JUST A KISS?

On a July episode of "Entertainment Tonight," William Hurt, 1984 Cannes Film Festival "Best Actor updated Norman Mailer's quote defining today's natural national hero (the American Negro), no longer the Black, said Hurt, but the Gay—the ones who could pass, but don't

The first Tokyo International film Festival made a liar out of the presumptuous mourner who told me the movies were dead—and a fooout of the little voice inside who swore that the art of sto rytelling was lost and gone forever. Hector Babenço's Kis of the Spider Woman, true to Manuel Puig's novel, wa there, up on the big square screen paying hommage to the influence of the Holly wood dream factory as it squares off against bruta reality.

Beginning with the acting award at its Cannes premiere Kiss followed up with a Jury Prize in Tokyo's Young Cinema competition. The screening left in its wake a charmed but greatly bemused audience that went expecting to see a movie and was treated instead of a compound of movie experiences—the cinemagination as it influences "real" life. And what life!

Kiss is a love story of two men which begins—as always, in terms of accepted mascume behavior—as a challenge No less compatible individuals could be found to share a prison cell: Luis Molina (William Hurt), window-dresser, serving an eight-year sentence for "molesting a minor," and Valentin Arregui (Rauf Julia), arrested for radical leftist crimes for which he has already undergone torture and expects no release

Molina is the fantasist and the romantic; Arregul is the fanatic and the realist. What appears to be a struggle for emotional ascendency between natural enemies is actually a similar view of harsh reality that pits one man's "impossible dream" against another's—one believing that imagination offers escape from the world, the other committed to a faith in changing it

Molina looks inward and follows the shadowy footsteps of his film idols, Arregul faces outward, seeking to smash the false gods. For a brief time the two men are unified against a hostife world, each discovering at last something precious of the other in himsed

Molina is a consummate movieteller, in the bleak horrors of their incarcerationwe will see and hear only what attle Molina and Arregui doone of his film-memories begins to take shape, described in articulate detail. It is quickly recognized by Valentin as a Nazi propaganda film (Her Real Glory, according to Puig's footnotes) featuring a sleek Parisian, Leni (Sonia Braga in one of her three lightweight but crucial guises); an indom-Itabiy Aryan $5 officer, Werner (Herson Capri), as the tall, blond, handsome, strong, silent type; and an assortment of viciously contrived racia and ethnic stereotypes. Molina's affection and admiration for the lead characters—he openly identifies with the lovelorn agonies and ecstacies of the heroine-wrench disparaging objections from his single audience. Valentin is appalled by Luis' lack of political consciousness and disturbed by the vivid evocations of sensuality and luxury he has painfully abandoned and which are now lost forever beyond the prison bars. None-theless, the movies are being presented just for him—"it passes the time"—and his interruptions become as much story-boosters as attempts to re-educate his cer mate.

Molina is a successful alchemist without materials He can conjure pleasures out of the midst of extreme discomfort, design airy castles in the dungeon, inventionmentic full Ilment out of a narrow and empty life, and distill a sympathetic, effective and totally fictional woman's role out of pure camp. Essence de Camp exudes from his pares, welling up from a deep pool of seifunderstanding, not just spritzed on for the jeers of boys in the front row, He clings as desperately to the movie myths as any Puritan's hope of Heaven. Even at first sight, turbaned and in shabby kimono, in a modicum of makeup and surrounded by a polpourri of cheap kitsch, this is no parody of a drag queen.

Mouna is a striking, if sometimes slyly annoying, ultramannered and provocative individual whom we have not met before, one who soon proves himself capable of mustiple intrigues as well as intriguing transformation. The romantic, tragic, languishing ady lies in his soul, so does the hera's confident steel Sometimes he resembles Braga herself in Eu te amo, tigress in heat; sometimes, as he describes the seminal fuhrer, Werner, with "eyes like the claws of an eagle—inescapable," Molina makes use of the ability inherent in all, that only the homosexual dares to develop, to invade and transform gender at will. And underneath, gradually revealed, appears the anguished and desperate hopes of a hopeless survivor

William Hurt has his feet on the ground throughout, whatever his eyeshadowed brow and lipsticked mouth might indicate to the contrary. He is extraordinarily convincing just as convincing as he was when he came to life in Attered States or established by the steamy Body Meat, a virile heterosexual presence, and remained unquestionably a maje role-model as the jockgone-to-seed in The Big Chill Hurt goes through Moima's changes without selfmockery, and imparts the dignity that is his (or hers, as the choice may be) by right, without overstepping the bounds of a character specifically limited by his "creator's" givenst class, education and life experience. This is not a reversal of type, but an actor's greatest skill that requires turning the ego, memory and even physique inside out, and dares to express what is there for all to see, comprehend and, at its best, emulate

Raul Julia's Valentin has been toned down from Purg s book (a little more space and I'd cheerfully review that brilliantly engaging novel as well), and for obvious reasons, not the least of which is that a third, equally complex, primary storyline would collapse under its own weight. The Becket-like confrontations and delicate emotional balancing act between the two men could still exist, but would lack the evocative movie-te ang visuals that find for Leonard Schrader's simplistic screenplay (the one fly SE DRUMMER in an otherwise analeptic ointment)

Julia, a transplanted Puerto Rican for whom Arregul is a first Hispanic role this rampaging, earthy goat-loving Greek in Mazursky's Tempest remains one of my favorite minor characters on film) plays to the hilt the quintessential idealistic revolutionary, prepared—he believes for betrayal, for pain, for death...for anything but love, the only commodity his ceilmate trades in. Under Julia's control, the "type" embraces Valentin's unique personality. At first taciturn, brusque, intellectual and selfassured, he is the demanding and physical "real" man Molina—and almost everyone e se-desires. Softened (not without a struggle) by Luis' machinations. Valentin's affections flow freely and, in turn, he is able to pierce his companion's illusions without destroying them and they are able to arrive at that elusive affinity that stands between sex and respect

Cinematographer Rodolfo Sanchez leases the eye unmercifully with a reversal of visual expectations: the let'spretend glamor comes encased in classic monochrome; the grim and carnal present in cold, smoky colors that obscure trivia and illuminate in tempting glimpses. Overall, Hector Babenco's hand lies as steady as it did over his darker Pixole, guiding the separate rivers of fancy and substance, scene by scene, into an unbroken narrative line as smooth as Manuel Puig's paragraphs

Kiss of the Spider Woman re-casts an ancient spell along the lines of movie-loving moviemakers Francois Truffant and Woody Ailen ... with the addition of a couple of novel and vital ingredients. A crusading element rises clearly behind the dramaboth author Puig and director Babenco are renegade Argentinians whose works are banned in their native country. And both book and film were gay-wrought and gaytempered, forged in the fires of independent creative sprirts, generous with their gifts towards a massively undeserving public.

THE COMPLETE DRUMER FICTION/FETISH INDEX

Including Mach, Drummer Daddies and the Drummer Specials

I started reading DRUMMER Magazine with issue 8, back in 1976. Val Martin (with painted-on oriental tattoos) was the coverman. Allan Eagles' "Movie Mayhem" was in full swing, with a pictorial rundown on cinematic bondage and torture, Hollywood Bible Epic style. Bill Ward was drawing King, the rough-hewn precursor to Drum. And the fiction—ah, the fiction—was episode six of Scott Masters' "Five in the Trainer's Room" and a story called 'Many Happy Returns" by a writer I'd never heard of, but knew I wanted more of—Phil Andros, who in the next ten years would make an incredible "comeback" to become one of the best-known and best-loved gay writers in America.

DRUMMER was unlike anything I'd ever seen or read before, with issue after issue of the most outrageous photography and the finest erotic fiction on the market. As my collection grew, first to dozens and then to scores of dog-eared, grease-stained back issues (does anybody throw away an old copy of DRUMMER?), it got harder and harder to backtrack and find that specific story that suited my mood for the moment. It wasn't easy—especially with one hand—thumbing through tenor twenty issues, trying to find that scene in G.B. Misa's "S&M Gym" where Kitler McKenna first stuck it to Georgie, or the moment when Jamie and Mr. Benson first locked eyes. I kept wishing somebody would put together an index, so I could zero in on the stories and scenes I wanted to reread-otherwise I'd end up getting distracted by an incidental picture or a filthy patch of prose out of the blue, and never get back to 58 M Gym at all—and Killer McKenna wasn't the kind to accept any excuse for breaking a date.

Ten years and 85 issues later, I've finally got my wish—even if I had to do it myself. Presenting: The Complete DRUMMER fiction Index, featuring every short story and serial ever to fill these pages and set thousands of fists pumping. It's alphabetized by author, and covers not only DRUMMER but all the erotic magazines published under its banner—MACH, the DRUMMER DADDIES series, and the various DRUMMER Specials.

In compiling this index, I've stuck strictly to fiction, which has called for some subjective judgment calls. True first-person stories, like that of Kai the Human Dog, which appeared in MACH 6—and that was, believe it or not, a true story—are not included here, not is anything in verse. And borderline stories and narrated photo spreads which skim the edge between fiction and fact have been omitted by my ground rules.

For longtime DRUMMER readers, there's a lot of nostaigia here—you may find your beat-off hand giving a twitch as you look over the list. And a pretty amazing list it is, a veritable Who's Who of erotic/SM authors and their best work: John Preston, Jack Fritscher, Robert Payne, Aaron Travis, Larry Townsend, A.N. Roquelaure...the list goes on. And there are surprises—playwrights like Robert Chesley and C.D. Arnold, writers better known as artists, like Olaf and The Hun; well-known authors more commonly identified with the gay mainstream, like Felice Picano, George Whitmore, Ron Harvie, Lars Eighner and Roy F. Wood

For stat freaks: The author with the most fiction in DRUMMER over the last ten years is—no surprise—John Preston, whose fiction, in short story or serial form, has been featured in a total of 16 issues of DRUMMER (an amazing average of almost one appearance in every five issues). He's closely followed by G.B. Misa, whose "S&M Gym" ran for 15 issues; Larry Townsend, with fiction in 14 issues; Scott Masters, 12; Aaron Travis, and Robert Payne. 10; Frank O Rourke, 9, and Jason Klein, Mako, and Kurt Kreisler, each with work in 6 issues It's probably fair to say that these are the authors who've made the biggest impact on DRUMMER fiction—and caused the most hard-ons among DRUMMER readers—over the last ten years.

But there's not a story on this list that hasn't been a special turn-on for someone. Which have been your favorites? Now you can find them without working your way through 85 issues and several thousand pages of the hottest prose ever put to paper

FETISH INDEX

Hardly a week passes at the DRLMMER offices without a letter or phone call from a reader asking when we ast did a special issue on cigars...or a story about piercing or enemas...or shaving...or about thirty other special turn-ons. We always try to answer those questions, but out of 80-odd issues, it's not always easy to do it off the top of our heads

Ask no more! Now you can look it up instead, using the handy ten-year DRUMMER Fetish Index. It may or may not be definitive-fetishes tend to get mixed together, and we haven't included, for example, every single nstance of an isolated bondage or untform photo that's showed up to illustrate a short story. But turning back through the pages of ten-years' worth of back ssues has turned up almost three dozen specific fetish specialties; and under each heading, we've listed the major articles and photo spreads that apply. (A few fiction pieces are included, but only those which focus exclusively on the fetish at hand.) Happy hunting!
